

UNTAINED AMERICANISM NEEDED, SAYS PRESIDENT

THE HOUSE PASSES BOTH THE ARMY AND SHIPPING BILLS

U. S. MUST PRESERVE ITS IDEALS TO BE OF ASSISTANCE TO WORLD

Charlotte, N. C., May 20.—President Wilson today addressed a crowd estimated at more than 100,000 gathered here for the one hundred and forty-first anniversary of the signing of the Mecklenburg declaration of independence. He was introduced by Governor Craig, of North Carolina, who spoke of the president as one of the greatest leaders the nation had ever seen.

In a parade in honor of the president, a group of students from Davidson College, where the president attended, they stopped and gave the college cheer. Recognizing it, the president waved his hat.

The president spoke only briefly and devoted himself almost wholly to discussion of the ideals of the United States.

He declared "untainted" Americanism was needed and that the United States must preserve its ideals in order to be of assistance in helping the world. He was enthusiastically applauded.

"I come back for a brief visit to a region dear to my heart," said the president. "I do not know whether I can interpret for you the spirit of this occasion. It is necessary to realize just what we are celebrating. There were three million people in this nation when it became independent. Now there are 100,000,000 people. They may have changed but they have the same elements. What I want to impress on you is that we have always been in the making. Among the men who founded this nation there was a very great passion for human liberty.

"What I want to call your attention to is that this nation has carved itself almost too much to material things. There have been other nations just as rich as the United States. We must think of what we are going to do with our wealth and our prosperity.

"America did come out of the west and it did not come out of the New England; it came out of the middle state where there was a mixture of different races."

The president spoke of the European war. "What are the elements of this war?" he asked. "It is a clash of different elements. Europe is fighting out in the questions we are fighting out in peace. As the processes of civilization have grown, nations and peoples have grown closer together. Men can learn more about each other. Now the melting pot is stirring. It is as if the world were being remade. We must see what we can do to help it.

"Here in America we have the example of peace. We are laying down a new age that is being laid down now on which the world is about to fall back in its judgment of man."

The president said he would like to think the "spirit of this occasion" could be expressed "if we could imagine ourselves lifted to a symbol of human unity."

He hoped the United States could lift up a symbol of small voice. His address amid a cheering crowd and to go to a local club.

May 20.—President Wilson, addressing a crowd at the railroad station today as he passed on his way to Charlotte, N. C., said that the leaders of the Republic are men who are "looked upon as the best of the nation." Members of the party declared he was "the light of the nation" and "the nation's glory." He was greeted by George H. Roper, the United States district attorney.

There are very serious things in the world today, said the president, and we must have men who know what they are doing, and we must have men who are at the beginning of a new age for the world. We must have men who will have to play a part in that new age.

REPEATER BALLOTS USED AND VOTES JUGGLED IN HAMILTON CO., SAYS GLASER

WILL THEY OBEY?
WE SHALL SEE

New York, May 20.—The vanguard of 20,000 women who will attend the thirteenth biennial convention of the Central Federation of Women's Clubs to begin Wednesday, began to arrive today. The committee in charge will issue a series of "don'ts" to the delegates, asking them, among other things, not to talk or whisper while the convention is in session.

Columbus, O., May 20.—Matt Glaser, Cincinnati publisher, here today, to demand recognition of the Anti-Wills Republican forces of Hamilton county in the appointment of a member of the Board of Elections, declared at the secretary of state's office he had evidence that 3,000 "repeater" ballots had been counted against him and election officials had "juggled" returns so as to turn an additional 3,500 votes given him in the recent presidential primary election to the so-called "regular" candidates for delegates at large to the Republican national convention. Glaser and Dr. S. O. Giffin, who accompanied him, were so-called "irregular" candidates for delegates at large. Both were defeated.

Glaser said he had information that a federal investigation of alleged election fraud was under way. He said he had the statement of three men that they each cast 27 ballots against him at the primaries, and that, but for the illegal voting the "irregular" state would have triumphed over the organization candidates in Hamilton county. Glaser is seeking the appointment of Edward Burkholz to succeed Robert Z. Buchhalter, as a member of the Hamilton county Board of Elections.

GIRL GOES TO FRONT TO HELP SOLDIERS

MISS IRENE HYLAND

New York, May 20.—All Bellevue hospital mourned today for Miss Irene Hyland, the young dietitian, who for six years has seen to it that each patient got just the food that was necessary for his recovery, left for the battle front in France. She is the first woman dietitian to volunteer for service, and she will go with the Harvard Medical School unit in the British Army Hospital Service. Miss Hyland is a Canadian, a graduate of Toronto university, and for sometime has been anxious to go to the front. She asked to go with a Toronto university unit some time ago, but there was no place for her, as she is not a trained nurse.

Her duties will be to supply food and supervise its preparation for patients cared for by the unit. She has had the same task for all of Bellevue hospital. "What is more natural than that a woman should see to planning the meals for the men?" she said. "That is the natural woman's sphere."

ARMY BILL READY FOR PRESIDENT'S SIGNATURE

Washington, D. C., May 20.—The administration shipping bill, designed to uphold the merchant marine and strengthen the navy, passed the house today by a vote of 211 and 161 virtually in the form it was introduced.

Republicans voting for the bill were—Dillon, of South Dakota; Young and Norton, North Dakota; Moss, West Virginia; Carey, Wisconsin; Miller and Farr, Pennsylvania; Mooney, Ohio and James, Michigan.

Progressives—Martin, Louisiana; Nolan, California, and Schall, Minnesota.

Two Democrats—Oney, of Massachusetts, and Slayden, of Texas, voted against the bill, and Kent, the California independent, for it.

The bill proposes to appropriate $50,000,000 to be raised by Panama bonds for the purchase, charter or lease of ships by the government. These ships would be sold or leased to private capital as rapidly as possible, with the government reserving the right to call them back into service as naval auxiliaries.

The operation of such vessels as the government was unable to lease or sell would not extend beyond five years after the close of the European war.

Washington, D. C., May 20.—By a vote of 249 to 25 the house today adopted the conference report on the army bill as previously adopted by the senate. Republicans who voted against the bill were Britton, Wheeler, Mann, Gardner, Gillette, Rogers, Tinkham, Walsh, Gurnsey, Hadley, Humphrey, Johnson, (Washington); Husted, Platt, Sanford, Moore, Morgan, Nelson. Five Democrats, Buchanan, (Illinois); Tamm, Johnson, (Kentucky); Thomas and Randall, voted against it, as did London, Socialist, and Schall, (Progressive). Gurnsey voted for the bill on the second roll call and later had his vote changed.

Republican leader Mann attacked the bill as inadequate and predicted that if war ever came history would never tire of telling of the faithfulness of those who vote for the conference report.

The secretary explained that navy advisors believe construction of additional oil burning battle ships, with their greater speed and steaming radius must be needed to provide fuel for the navy. The investigation has resulted in a spirited controversy between Senator Thompson and Mayor Mitchell, who asserts that a vital national interest is involved. LOAN ADVANTAGES

4. The weekly or monthly plan is better for the wage earner than the straight loan because as he pays each week the interest is not only being paid but also the principal. Many have tried the straight loan and changed to our DEFINITE CONTRACT PLAN. Weekly payments are not so hard on the wage earner, as to pay a lump sum and he can more readily meet them. Weekly payments and our semi-annual interest reducing plan makes the best loan for wage earners. We welcome inquiries.

STATE POLITICAL LETTERS

DEMOCRATIC

(From Democratic State Press Bureau—Charles E. Morris.)

Columbus, Ohio, May 20.—The sub-committee on arrangements appointed by the Democratic state central committee met in Columbus on Wednesday and perfected preliminary plans for the state convention which is to be held June 1. The committee is composed of Chairman W. W. Durbin, of Kenton, Secretary Clarence Greer, of Dayton, Mayor George Karb, of Columbus, John Dodd of Circleville, and John Brown, of Zanesville.

Secretary of War Newton D. Baker was formally named as temporary chairman, and as such will sound the keynote of the state campaign. Coming as he does as the personal representative of President Woodrow Wilson his remarks on the national situation will be fraught with considerable importance and will be taken as an outline of the plans on which the national campaign for the re-election of President Wilson will be made.

For other temporary organizational places these were recommended: John Dodd, of Circleville, secretary; Clyde Reasoner, of Zanesville, sergeant-at-arms; Charles L. Resch, of Columbus, chief usher.

It was ordered that the district delegates meet in caucus on June 1, at eleven o'clock, for the purpose of nominating district candidates for presidential elector, and selecting members of the various committees, including the committee on resolutions. The convention proper will be called to order at one o'clock.

In connection with the state convention a meeting of the Democratic state central committee has been called for May 31. At the suggestion of National Committeeman F. H. Moore the members of the Democratic National delegation from Ohio will also meet in Columbus at that time for organization and for the completion of arrangements to attend the national convention at St. Louis on June 14.

For an indication of the way leaders and connections of the present state administration look on things political, one may read what a supporter of Governor Willis, the editor of the East Liverpool Review, has to say. He writes in reply to an editorial in the Ohio Republican, published by the so-called Ohio Republican Land League, of which Mary E. Lee is the moving spirit, and which is said to be a part of the support of Harry A. Daugherty's candidacy for Republican nomination for United States senator. In an editorial under head of "Mixing Wrong Things," here is what appeared this week in the Review:

"In a recent issue of the Ohio Republican, a magazine published by the Ohio Republican Land League, seeks to instill this doctrine into its readers: Patronize Republican business houses, banks and purveyors. The inference, of course, is that a system of boycott should be adopted against those who are not of the Republican faith. That is a silly doctrine and it is surely amazing that such a thought be publicly expressed in this age and land of education and liberality."

This is a proper criticism, but while on the subject the editor might well have gone further. It is just as reprehensible to oppose a man politically because of his religion or his race, and yet this was done recently in Ohio when a Jew was opposed for election as national delegate to Chicago because of his faith, and when a colored Republican was ignominiously defeated because of his race.

By an advertisement for bids for the supply of automobile tires for 1917, Secretary of State Under brandt has publicly acknowledged his shortcoming in the private lettering of this year's contract to a state senator, who expected to make a profit of $12,000. This senator, who was the governor's floor leader, did not even have a plant for the manufacture of tags, but sublet the contract to a New York firm, which in turn was to make a neat profit, by the friendly arrangement which permitted them to make a tag of small size and of considerably less weight than had been formerly called for in state specifications. The secretary of state has had a forced conversion, for had it not been for the watchfulness of State Auditor A. V. Donahy, he and Senator Wickline would have gotten away with their little arrangement for profit. Just how far this Willis administration would go with such deals were not Donahy on the job, would be hard to state.

The good young governor evidently thinks that sufficient time has elapsed since the state fair fiasco that he may now make claims for "economy" in the state board of agriculture, and get away with it. He points to a saving of $22,000 in the face of the records which show the state fair went in the hole more than that amount, and in the face of a recent appropriation by the emergency board to pay the illegal deficit of $18,000.

Governor Willis has recalled an executive voucher for pay to Col. Worthington Kautzman, "special investigator," after State Auditor Donahy held it up for explanation of the nature of the service. A voucher for earlier work had been paid before the matter was looked into. Later came rumors of complaint that Col. Kautzman, an anti-saloon league employee, had been traveling over the state in behalf of Governor Willis' selection as delegate and re-nomination. Local papers quoted him and reported his visits on political grounds. For this work Governor Willis signed his voucher on the state treasury at $5 per day and expenses, and had it not been for the vigilance of the auditor this would have been paid by the state. Kautzman, in addition to building political fences, has been recognized as the patronage adviser of Governor Willis. Closely connected with this matter is the statewide movement inaugurated this week by district leaders of the anti-saloon league to elect county and state central committee men in Republican counties who will give "future advice on patronage matters."

That there is a growing resentment among Germans of the United States at statements that they are un-American and opposed to President Wilson, is being made evident as the effort grows to have them play into the hands of anti-Wilson political leaders. The Germans are great admirers of Maximilian Harden, world famous German editor. This concerning him is significant:

"Berlin, May 9.—After figuratively taking the public's breath away two weeks ago by a daring article headed 'If I Were Wilson,' Maximilian Harden on Saturday returns to an exhaustive defense of President Wilson, his policy and the entire American standpoint. In a leader in the Zukunft entitled 'The Real Wilson,' Herr Harden praises President Wilson as a man of high moral and high spiritual character of whom we might be proud if he were ours. What the writer characterizes as 'lazy ignorance' is represented as 'hatred from the mantle of would-be patriotism, which in reality has nothing in common with genuine patriotism when President Wilson is assailed as he frequently has been.'"

"Ninety-nine one-hundredths of all the so-called war literature' Herr Harden continues, 'should be sent where it belongs, to the paper mills—and the public should return to books from which a wide-awake spirit speaks, including President Wilson's 'The New Freedom.' Then perhaps pure common sense will return to you and awaken you to the duty of respecting the dignity of foreign peoples.' Herr Harden follows with a brief character sketch of President Wilson in which he calls the president a brave opponent of evil and abuses and alludes to him as actuated by a love for his people and possessed of the will to lead them to the heights of his ideals after they had gotten into the swampland. 'Germany,' he adds, 'should be ashamed of people who slander him because they have read calumny in newspapers.'"

Senator Atlee Pomerene, since his Cleveland speech, is in great demand as a campaign orator. An invitation has just been extended to him in behalf of Democratic candidates to stump the state of Indiana during the fall campaign.

"And then for good measure," says the Georgetown News-Democrat, "a friend came along and stated that he could sight anyone, desiring to defeat Governor Willis' decentralizing highway law, to a county which has expended $20,000 since its operation, and not a cent had actually gone on the roads. Big stuff our boy governor is pulling off when he talks of the saving in the office of the big squeeze of this lunge of red tape."

Complaint as to the condition of roads is coming from all parts of Ohio. Merchants have been suffering because yet the business arteries are all but impassable. Automobile owners are the chief complainants. Repair work has been at a complete standstill in many parts. A significant thing is that the small township and county roads in many places are kept in better condition than are the main roads which are supposed to be in charge of the State Highway Department. Two years ago a law was passed making it obligatory that all funds derived from the license fund for automobiles should be used in maintenance of roads. The automobile men all enthusiastically favored this law. In 1915 considerably more than $1,000,000 was derived from the license fund and turned into the state treasury. The Willis legislature, after its political fashion, appropriated only $750,000 out of this amount for repair and maintenance work. The surplus of more than a quarter of a million dollars remains in the state treasury to be pointed out as a "saving" for campaign purposes. In 1916 the receipts from automobile licenses will approximate $1,500,000. Yet the same legislature made only $650,000 available for road maintenance.

HAVE BOUGHT COTTAGE

Paul Revare, of the Security bank, who recently sold his house on Baird avenue to J. R. Frostick, Saturday purchased of Louis P. Weiss his fine cottage on Robinson avenue near Offshore street. Mr. and Mrs. Revare will occupy the cottage as soon as vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Weiss. Mr. Weiss is employed by the Excelsior Shoe company.

THEATRICAL Sun Theatre

The Palace Players will offer for the last time tonight the three act farce comedy "Put Me Off at Buffalo." This little bit of comedy triumph has made a bigger hit than anything this clever company has put on so far. If you go out tonight looking for amusement, and you want a good laugh go to the Sun. If you don't laugh at "Put Me Off at Buffalo," then go see a doctor. Next Monday the Palace Players will offer the three act comedy drama "The Peace-maker." On next Wednesday matinee and night the performances will be for the benefit of the local Carpenters' and Joiners' Union.

Minerals Sensitive to Light

The element selenium has long attracted attention because of the peculiar effect light exerts on its electrical conductivity. Scientists have now discovered that copper oxide has properties similar to selenium, says Popular Mechanics. Another mineral recently put in the same class is tellurium, an extremely rare, other materials, such as sulphur, silicon, paraffin and antimony, a coal tar product, will also extend with conductivity effects under the influence of light, but to a lesser degree.

REPUBLICAN

(News letter of the Ohio Republican Editorial Association, Commercial Building, Room 515, Columbus, Ohio. Claude C. Waltemire, Correspondent.)

Columbus, May 20.—Impartial observers of the work of state departments consider the marked improvement of efficiency and promptness in the Industrial Commission's important departments, one of the most pronounced evidences of the success of the Willis administration. The large amount of increased business handled the past year, with practically no increase in overhead expense and with a most notable increase in efficiency has been such as to create special interest among impartial observers at the state capital.

An analysis of the facts is more striking than ever when compared with the statements of a hold-over member of the commission recently; a fact which has led to the general belief at the state capital that these statements have been provoked by a "sour" partisan spirit, which has cared little for the truth, so long as partisan ends be achieved.

Several of the departments have been given a severe shaking up by this administration, as a result of which from 40 to 100 percent more work is being accomplished than before with practically no increase in overhead expense; and the work is now handled daily, instead of two to four weeks behind time, as before. In this shaking up, however, not a single competitive, civil service appointee was affected, merely partisan appointees.

In the Workmen's Compensation department, more than five million dollars has recently been added to the payrolls on which premiums are collected. Fifteen new payroll auditors were recently placed on the job, after the hold-over Democratic commissioners had delayed the work as long as possible, and in the month of March these added $1,913,193.02 and in April $1,621,226.29, making a total of $3,534,419.31.

In three months of this year as compared with the corresponding three months of last year, the Boiler Inspection Department received $10,881.50 as compared with $7,673.90. The engineering department received $10,138.00 as compared with $9,606.00 the corresponding three months of 1915. The office of the Film Censors received $1,937.60 as against $6,550.00.

In the month of April the Medical Department handled 21,910 claims and with the same force at work as that a year ago when only a little more than half this number were taken care of. The work of Fred Croxson in the Department of mines under Jim Pritchard, and the stationary engineers, under F. P. Brownstead, chief inspector, has been so marked an improvement as to receive most favorable comment from all who have had business with the commission. The same is true of J. C. Callery, chief inspector of the boiler department, and George Hamilton, chief inspector of work shops and factories. Callery found his department without any fixed policy and losing money. He will show a favorable balance at the end of the year. Hamilton is making inspection count for something, and is eliminating the petty annoyances which had brought his department much criticism under previous management.

It is no longer true of the Industrial Department that letters remain unanswered and checks undeposited for even months at a time. The Willis administration has demanded of every man that he make good, and the result is most apparent in this big commission.

The record of Rudy W. Archer has been such that the champion fault-finder, Auditor Vic Donahy found it necessary to compliment him upon his efficiency and ability in the handling of the public money.

Cox ran 16,000 behind Wilson. If the democrats had cast the same number of votes as the republicans and Mr. Cox had been last on the ballot instead of at the top, where would he have been at the same ratio?

Willis will win—on the same platform of efficiency and economy which the people of Ohio want to see continued.

Ohio is paying about $30,000 a year less rent than was paid under the previous administration. James M. Cox ran 941 behind his ticket in Franklin county and 2,001 in Cuyahoga county, Franklin county is the home of Bob Wolfe, whose papers lauded Mr. Cox to the highest heavens.

Almost a year and half after the

Cox administration has gone out of power, the state auditor, that faithful watch-dog of the treasury has discovered and reported to Governor Willis that Lattauner, the late, lamented head of the Banking Department of Ohio, took a dozen or more of his employees at a time and went on junketing trips to Cedar Point and other places of amusement, at the expense of the state; that his employees worked only about four days in a week and drew pay for six.

Why, bless you, Vic, everybody else in the state knew all about this two years ago. But we are glad that you have at last found it out for yourself. It became a matter of common knowledge during the campaign of 1914, and was one of the main things which discredited the last administration. It was also well known that the things pointed out in the auditor's report were mere peccadilloes in comparison with other things which were done in that department—such as wrecking solvent banks in order to permit broken-down, Democratic politicians to come in at the wake and feast at the trough while winding up the business of the concern; and sending state officials on long junketing trips to distant parts of the nation as "inspectors" for the blue sky branch of the department; and like misdemeanors which made the banking department of the state "stink unto the heavens."

We are glad, however, that the auditor has at last found it out and made a report upon it. There are several other things in other departments, such as the stealing of referendum petitions to prevent a referendum on the Warnes law, and the expenditure of large funds by some of the departments which never passed into or out of the state treasury so as to give the people a chance to keep tabs on them, that some one might dig up and report upon. But like the acts of Lattauner, they are now ancient history, and perhaps it is well to let them be forgotten.

One of the imperative duties which lie before the republican voters at the coming primaries is to select good, capable men for congress. It is a foregone conclusion that the next congress will be republican. The present congress has shown its utter inability to cope with the big questions which confront this age. The people are looking to the republican party for relief. Men should be selected who are experienced, and who are broad enough not only to see the needs of big business, but also of little business. Men who are not only in touch with the needs of the business man, but with the farmer as well. Men who not only know the needs of capital, but of labor likewise. No mere politician should be nominated for this important office in a single district. Three years ago the democratic party came into power under false pretenses. It rallied against "the high cost of living" and solemnly promised, if placed in power, it would reduce the cost of living. But once in, not a measure was introduced tending in that direction. No even a resolution was passed expressing a desire to lessen the burdens of the people.

We need some broad-minded men in congress who are able to point the way. Though the primaries do not come until August, it is none too soon to begin to look about to see what manner of men are putting themselves forward as candidates for the nation's great representative council. With the primary, the voters have it in their power to select whomever they will. If the right men are not seeking the office, they should be hunted out and forced into the race. Mr. Voter, look well to your congressional aspirants.

When Babies Were Taxed. There was once a tax on babies in England, but it was only in force for a short time. The tax was put on in 1635 and abolished in 1706. The higher up in society a man was the more he had to pay for the privilege of being a happy father; a duke, for instance, had to pay £30, a marquis £25, and so on. Nowadays the reverse principle is in force, and the state glows so much more about the income tax to those who have children and 20 shillings to mothers who are insured.

G. A. R. CELEBRATION WILL BE FINE EVENT

The exercises and attendance of the G. A. R. Day program to be held at the High School Auditorium Tuesday evening, May 23rd, promise to excel that of last year, if that could be possible.

Grand Marshal Frank B. Pratt has announced that the parade will form on Fifth street at Court and march west on Fifth to Market; south on Market to Second; east on Second to Chillicothe; north on Chillicothe to Galia and east on Galia to the High school.

The parade will be headed by Chief Clerk and a cordon of police, followed by Mayor Kaps and city officials, then the Junior Order Band and members. Other organizations will be formed by Marshal Pratt as they appear at the place of meeting, immediately to the rear of the orders already formed. Organizations that have already informed the committee that they will take part in the parade are the Foresters, Woodmen of the World, Geeks, D. of A., Modern Woodmen of America, Women's Relief Corps, Jr. O. U. A. M., Vienna Camp Auxiliary and the Spanish War Veterans and the Sons of Veterans. The last two will be followed by the Bailey Post, G. A. R., who will ride in automobiles. Merchants are requested to hang out "Old Glory" and burn red fire along the line of march. Other societies or organizations are requested to take part in the parade, as well as the public in general. The committee hopes to make this a feature of the occasion, as nothing is more inspiring than to see the old soldiers parade over the streets of our city, escorted by the different organizations. Hon. Theo. K. Funk will make the principal address at the High school auditorium, and this fact alone should bring out a large attendance.

The committee still needs a few more automobiles. Anyone having a machine to donate should notify H. M. Siskles at The Times office. Those who have already proffered their services are: Wm. Heil, Louis Zucker, M. J. Caldwell, Judge Thomas C. Beatty, John J. Harper, Thomas Watkins, S. D. Eckhart.

Home Celebration of Wonder Interest

The arrival of a baby in the household completely changes the entire aspect of the future. But in the meantime, during the anxious period of expectation, there is a splendid remedy known as "Mother's Friend," that does wonders. It is for external use, relieves the pains of muscle expansion, soothes and quiets the nerves, extends its influence to the internal organs and removes to a great extent the tendency to worry and apprehension. It is a natural treatment, safe for the mother, has no drug effect whatever and for this reason must exert a beneficial influence upon those functions directly connected with motherhood. In a very interesting book the subject is fully discussed and a copy will be mailed free to all expectant mothers by Bradley's Register Co., 106 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Get a copy of "Mother's Friend" today of your druggist. For as directed and you will find how easy mothers for nearly half a century have used and recommended this splendid aid to motherhood. Their letters are messengers of cheer, that breathe comfort in every word.

WHAT IS URIC ACID?

The Cause of Backache, Rheumatism, Gravel and Sudden Death.

Ever since the discovery of uric acid in the blood by Scheele, in 1776, and the bad effect it had upon the body, scientists and physicians have striven to rid the tissues and the blood of this poison. Because of its over-abundance in the system it causes backache, pains here and there, rheumatism, gout, gravel, neuralgia and sciatica. It was Dr. Pierce who discovered a new agent, called "Anuric," which will throw out and completely eradicate this uric acid from the system. "Anuric" is 37 times more potent than bicin, and consequently you need no longer fear muscular or articulation rheumatism or gout, or any other diseases which are dependent on an accumulation of uric acid within the body. Send to Dr. Pierce of the Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., for a pamphlet on "Anuric," and send 10 cents for a large trial package of "Anuric" Tablets.

If you feel that tired, worn-out feeling, backache, neuralgia, or if your sleep is disturbed by frequent urination, go to your best store and ask for Doctor Pierce's Anuric Tablets.

Doctor Pierce's reputation is back of this medicine, and you know that his "Pleasant Pills" for the liver and his "Favorite Prescription" for the kidneys of women have had a splendid reputation for the past fifty years.

MANUFACTURERS FOR BETTER PREPAREDNESS

George D. Selby returned Friday from New York City, where he attended the annual convention of the National Manufacturers' Association of the United States, which opened last Monday for a three day session. Mr. Selby was honored by being re-elected Vice President and director for the coming year. This office Mr. Selby has held for the past six years.

The meeting was held at the Waldorf Astoria hotel. In speaking of the meeting Mr. Selby said: "It was very satisfactory and as much as we have ever held."

The purpose of the National Manufacturers' Association, which is to be of mutual benefit to both workmen and employers.

Discussions connected with the National States Chamber of Commerce were discussed and noted.

These same references are considered by every business man in the country.

The association unanimously agreed that the country should be prepared on both land and sea.

Reports were received upon the following subjects: Bankruptcy, state laws, banking and currency, accident prevention and compensation, fire insurance, industrial betterment, labor and industrial education.

The meeting was concluded with a luncheon which was attended by the hundreds of people. Hon. J. H. Hayes, National President of the Manufacturers' Association, presided at the luncheon. Mr. Selby was one of the speakers.

New York Correspondent Says Geo. D. Selby Is Known As A Shoe Magnate, Good Methodist And Republican

The following interesting interview with Geo. D. Selby, was secured while Mr. Selby was in New York, by a representative of The Times in that city:

New York, May 20.—When the New York Times correspondent, George D. Selby, highly esteemed citizen of Portsmouth, was interviewed by a representative of The Times in that city:

New York, May 20.—When the New York Times correspondent, George D. Selby, highly esteemed citizen of Portsmouth, was interviewed by a representative of The Times in that city:

The following interesting interview with Geo. D. Selby, was secured while Mr. Selby was in New York, by a representative of The Times in that city:

for the good of Ohio, the Scioto Valley or the United States. This delegation kept active all week in the convention work and promised to be home by Sunday, very well content with what they had done and learned—not forgetting how they had observed the remarkable trend of things political and especially towards Hughes as the Republican candidate.

Citizen Selby modestly admitted that he was not exactly "up" on politics or active in the game, but as a Grand Army comrade, a Republican who never went astray in the progressive secession he was eager to see a real old fashioned Republican doing business in the White House. His first loyal observation too was that Ohio was for Theodore Burton and had so declared in the late primaries. "Burton is a big man and Ohio has always endorsed big men in Republican conventions," said Citizen Selby. "We have nominated four big Ohio Republicans for president since Abraham Lincoln saved the nation, 55 years ago and we elected each one even if Taft lost a second term."

"We had Hayes in '76, Garfield in '80, McKinley in '90 and 1900—Taft in 1908 and '12. Also with all four victories we have had but 13 years in the White House and really we are entitled to Burton this year with some big New York leader like Congressman Fairchild for second place."

It was evident that the Selby eloquence for Ohio and Burton did not arouse much enthusiasm among his New York listeners, who intimated or rather retorted that Ohio had done very well in fifty years with seven nominations not including three given to Grant and Harrison both born in Ohio. Even so, Citizen Selby was loyal for his state and Theodore while admitting that the Hughes movement seemed to have something of the dramatic, the unusual and almost spectacular about it, that was apparently promising the G. O. P. little to do at Chicago beyond a ratification.

"Ohio will be no less loyal to Hughes than to Burton or Harding," commented Citizen Selby, "and we admit with regret that the Republican party permitted the state to go 11 years without electing a Republican governor. We will get back to the old way of doing things, never fear, in November especially in the presidential vote. Recall please, that Ohio never went wrong on a national election. We hope to gain a few congressmen too this year even with a Democratic district map which sent 13 Republicans out of 22 members two years ago. My own district was thought to be a Democratic bulwark but we have Congressman Kearns of Batavia, a very vigilant and loyal Republican doing business at Washington."

There was another sigh and reply of regret when Citizen Selby was remembered by his historically inclined friend Francis B. G., that dear old Scioto county even so strong in contributing Republican majorities, had been given little in the way of office.

"True enough and sad enough," responded Citizen Selby, "we had James Newman, a Democratic secretary of state, 33 years ago and he had but a single term; then we had the Hon. Dan J. Ryan as a Republican secretary of state for two terms a few years later."

"That is the extent of Scioto on state tickets that I recall in a generation. Away back nearly 30 years ago we had a brave Grand Army comrade in Congress, Hon. Albert C. Thompson—who afterwards had high judicial place. Then we had the Hon. Henry Dannon, an eminent young lawyer who served two terms in congress, beginning a dozen years ago. We keep the faith as regards a Republican majority each year but we don't seem to get much reward and I wonder why. Even so it is some comfort that the Democrats don't do much in our county court house and we have had but three Democratic postmasters since I was a lad with a Republican Senator or two at Washington taking care that we have a good one each time and one who gives the office attention without regard to politics."

Assembling On Lord's Day One Of Highest Duties

—JOHN VAN GORDER

(By John Van Gorder)

Between the eternity of the past and the eternity of the future, in the course of time, stand three great mountain peaks of Scripture. The first, Creation and its associate events of the Fall, etc.; the second, Incarnation and its associate events of crucifixion and resurrection; the third, the Second Advent and its associate events of rupture, revelation, etc.

Between the first peak and the second stood the brazen altar of sacrifice, as the means by which a guilty sinner could approach an holy God. Restrospective, the altar and its bloody sacrifice pointed back to the fall of man, his separation from God and the great law of Jehovah "without the shedding of blood is no remission."

Prospective, it pointed forward to a greater sacrifice, "the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world." Between the second peak and the third stands the table of the Lord's Supper, around which have gathered for nearly nineteen hundred years, His redeemed ones, fulfilling His command and "showing forth His death until He comes." Restrospective, it points back to our deliverance from the guilt and penalty of sin on the Cross, while prospective to our deliverance from the presence of sin.

This gathering together of the saints on the Lord's Day is one of the highest and holiest duties we owe to the risen Lord. By this act also, week by week, year by year, century by century, there has been forged a chain of unbroken links back to that first day of the week when those two disciples stood in the early morn before an open tomb. Seizing the last link added to this chain and giving a mighty pull, the rebound comes back through the centuries that the first link is grounded in the bed rock of the Christian faith—the resurrection of Christ.

A tourist party of Christians, visiting the reputed tomb of Christ, as a special favor were allowed to enter the tomb, and one of the friends said, as they stood within the tomb, "We realized that there was a profound truth in the words of a

Moslem Arab when he said, 'When we go to Mecca, we have a stone coffin in which are the bones of our prophet, but when you go to Jerusalem you have only an empty tomb.'

An empty tomb is a happy symbol of the gospel, for it speaks of the two main facts of the good news we have to proclaim; namely, the death and resurrection of Christ.

In these two facts we have the fulcrum and lever which will move any loaded sinner from his sin, and the sin from the sinner.

Let us keep the day on which He rose, "not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another; and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching."

Lesson VIII.—Second Quarter,
May 21, 1916.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Acts xiv, 8-20.
Memory Verses, 8-10—Golden Text, Isa. xl, 29—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This chapter completes the story of Paul's first evangelistic missionary tour to Jews and gentiles, and is spoken of in verse 26 as "the work which they fulfilled." Being driven from Antioch, they came to Iconium; persecuted there they fled to Lystra; their persecutors followed them, and at Lystra Paul was stoned to death, but the Lord revived him, and then they went on to Derbe, everywhere preaching the gospel, telling the glad tidings and suffering for it, but winning souls and thus adding to the Lord the members of His body. From Derbe they returned through all the places where they had been, and from Attalia sailed to Antioch, in Syria, from whence they had set forth, and there rehearsed to the brethren all that God had done with them, opening the door of faith to the gentiles.

After preaching the gospel in every place, when they returned they confirmed the souls of the disciples, exhorting them to continue in the faith, ordaining elders, praying with them and commending them to the Lord on whom they believed. One thing they insisted on was that the believers must not count suffering a strange thing, for only by the way of tribulation can we enter the kingdom (verses 21-23). When we receive the Lord Jesus we become children of God and heirs of the kingdom, but then the devil begins the world, the flesh, and the world stay on earth. Even our Lord said, "In the world ye shall have tribulation." But He also said, "Let not your heart be troubled." "See that ye be not troubled" (John xvi, 33; xiv, 1, 27; Matt. xxi, 9).

Our Lord told Ananias that He would show Saul how great things he must suffer for His name's sake (Acts ix, 16), and on this first tour Saul certainly had quite a taste of the sufferings he enumerated more fully in 11 Cor. xi, 23-28. "All that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution" (11 Tim. iii, 12), and if we were more godly in our daily life we would have more fellowship with our Lord in this matter, according to Phil. i, 29. At Iconium they spoke so boldly in the Lord, and the Lord was so manifestly with them, working signs and wonders by their hands, that a great multitude, both of Jews and Greeks, believed, and they abode long time there preaching the Lord Jesus (verses 1-6).

Persecution sent them on to Lystra, and there they preached the gospel. In Paul's estimation there was nothing else worth doing, for this he counted all as loss and determined to know nothing but Jesus Christ crucified, risen, ascended and returning. The healing of the lame man at Lystra, who had been born lame, reminds us of the healing through Peter in chapter iii of another man who had been lame from birth. We also think of the man in John ix, who was born blind, and remember the Saviour's reason why. Any we see in all difficulties an opportunity for God to work and be willing to be the material. When the people saw the miracle wrought through Paul and Barnabas they were ready to worship them and could scarcely be restrained, even after Paul assured them that they were only men of the passions with themselves and that the healing of this man was by the power of the living God, who was thus seeking to draw them to Himself and away from all the lying vanities of their idolatry. Note how the Thessalonians turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God and to wait for His Son from heaven (1 Thess. i, 9, 10).

So noble are people that those who were ready to worship these two men of God, held persuaded by the persecutors from Antioch and Iconium, are equally ready to kill them, and they actually stoned Paul and drew him out of the city, supposing him to be dead, but while the disciples stood round about him he rose up and came into the city and the next day was able to start for Derbe with Barnabas (verses 16, 20). It is possible that as Paul was being stoned he thought of the day when he stood by and saw Stephen stoned, but if we are right in the supposition that 11 Cor. xii, 14 describes his experience while he seemed to be dead, then he had further fellowship with Stephen and soon forgot the stones and the persecutors in the bliss of the paradise, the third heaven, to which he was taken and saw and heard things he could not describe in words.

It must be a fine thing to be killed or to be taken out of the body in any way when it transfers one to such blissful realities. Such, no doubt, is the experience of all who die in Christ, and previous to the night of the Lord's death of His saints. In 11 Cor. xii, 7-10, there is a suggestion that Paul's thorn in the flesh was a result of his being stoned at Lystra, but although he was not delivered from it, he was able to rejoice in it and glorify God. May the grace of God enable us to finish the work to which He has called us, filling us with His Spirit, enabling us to speak boldly in the Lord and give testimony to the word of His grace and making it manifest that Christ is at home in us.

SERMON FOR THE G. A. R.

On Sunday morning members of Bailey Post G. A. R. will attend Mr. George D. Selby's bible class and the regular Sunday morning services of this church.
Rev. C. E. Chandler, the pastor, stated Saturday that he had arranged to deliver an appropriate sermon in "the boys in blue" Sunday morning. His subject will be: "Is War Ever Justifiable?"

Fifth of Erzerum.
Erzerum, the Armenian city, is, from the European point of view, one of the most undesirable places of residence upon earth. It stands more than 6,000 feet above the sea, and in winter the temperature falls to 20 degrees below zero, while in the passes by which it is approached rages the fiercest blizzard. But Erzerum is at its worst in summer owing to the appalling lack of sanitation. The people simply pile their refuse of all kinds on the pavement before their houses, which pavement has long been covered in filth, and mortality is so heavy that of twelve children, a common family, it is lucky if six survive.—London Chronicle.

Family Day At Fourth St. M. E.

Sunday is to be Family Day at the Fourth St. M. E. church and the great day is anticipated. The one hundred families of the church are all planning to attend with all of the household present, including grandma and the baby. Nobody stays at home tomorrow. The pastor, Rev. Albert L. Marting announces for his

THE BROTHERHOOD CLASS

That was a fine stimulating session we had last week. One that made us all think. One of the points which gave rise to much discussion, was the condition of infants dying unbaptized and the whole question of baptismal regeneration. In fact, so much interest was displayed that the pastor was asked to devote the session tomorrow to a thorough explanation and discussion of

SUNDAY SCHOOL CHILDREN'S CHORUS AT TRINITY NEXT SUNDAY EVENING

A variety of musical attractions will appear on the program at Trinity church next Sunday evening, at 7:30. The Pilgrim Singers, so favorably and widely known, will sing two numbers. The chorus choir will render an excellent anthem. A chorus of children from the Sunday school under the direction of Mrs. J. C. Coleman will sing two beautiful selections. The pastor will preach the third sermon of the series on "Mountain Peaks of Character." The subject will be "The Man After God's Own Heart." A happy hour, good singing, and a honey service.

SPECIAL SERMON AT ALL SAINTS

The pastor is preaching a special sermon at All Saints' church tomorrow morning on "Our Debt to God and How We May Pay It," and is very desirous that there should be a full attendance of the membership on this occasion. At the evening service he will speak on the interesting subject "The Unfolding of Christ's Purpose." This sermon will be of special value to the recently confirmed and to those desirous of understanding the working principles of the church.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

Doctors Now Use Laxative Water Instead of Drugs.

Instead of loading their systems up with drugs that irritate and give only temporary relief, doctors are sending their patients to the springs to let water clean the poison from their systems, get rid of constipation, restore their digestion and put their livers to work again.
If you wake up feeling tired, nervous and headachy; with eyes that are dull and a little yellow; a taste in your mouth that makes even the thought of food repulsive your system should be cleaned at once with a little Tollo Water from Dawson Springs, Kentucky.

Get a bottle from your druggist and pour a tumbler about one third full of Tollo Water and fill with plain water—hot, if convenient—and drink it before breakfast. In a little while it will flush the stomach and entire intestinal canal of their accumulated waste and you will feel good for the rest of the day.
Of course one glass of water is not enough to remove the poison that has been absorbed by the blood, but you should continue to drink it each morning for several days. Then your complexion will clear up and your natural, healthy color will return, your tongue will lose its furry coat and you will be clean and fresh inside.

The handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Patterson, on Ninth street, was the scene of a beautiful reception Friday afternoon, when Mrs. Patterson and daughter, Mrs. A. E. At the end of the evening's pleasures the guests were invited to the dining-room, where covers were laid at one long table, the decorations being American Beauty roses. The only light was

What Is The Nicest Thing In All The World?

This is the question that a little child asked its father. And the father didn't know the real answer, which is that a little child is the nicest thing in the world.

It is pleasant to make gifts to little children. So we have arranged one of our jewelry windows in gifts for babies and little children. There are wee gold rings, tiny bracelets, baby pins, locket and chain sets, knife and fork sets, silver mugs, porridge bowls and many other interesting gifts.

If there is a baby of your acquaintance, or a little child, take a look at our Baby Window. Little ones like shiny gifts, and our display fills the bill. Also it makes the parents proud and happy to have the gift come from

What is the fare on a steamboat from Portsmouth to Cincinnati? Will there be any more boat excursions here this summer like that the B. P. of Elks gave? Thanking you in advance for the answers.

E. W. R. Cedar Point is about 60 miles from Cleveland via rail. You can go direct to Cedar Point without going to Cleveland first. I think this popular resort opens about June first. You can get literature by writing to the Breakers Hotel, Cedar Point or to the New York Central offices at Sandusky, Ohio. As far as I know American citizens do not need a passport to cross the border. There are so many places one could spend their vacation that I could not begin to mention them here. If you want a good rest, a week in the country or a boat trip would be nice. Why not pay your country cousins a visit, if you want a cheap trip? All you would have to do is to sleep, eat, read and flatter. Don't flatter. Katherine, Barkhardt, Eva Kelly, Helen Wood, Naomi Alexander, Flora Daum, Dorothy Moore, Gertrude Poston, Mada Bellamy.

GEO. B. COX, PROMINENT POLITICAL FIGURE, PASSES AWAY AT CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, O., May 20—Geo. B. Cox, politician and theatrical magnate, died at his home here early this morning. Mr. Cox was stricken with paralysis February 28, from which he never recovered, although death is said to have been from pneumonia which developed in the last few days.

George Burns Cox was one of the most widely known professional politicians in Ohio, a baseball magnate, a banker and part owner of one of the largest theatrical syndicates in the country. Born in Cincinnati, April 29, 1863, he began his career as a newsboy, and later became a saloon-keeper at "Dead Man's Corner," as the locality at Lakeside and Central avenues, Cincinnati, was known because of the numerous murders in the neighborhood. Cincinnati was "wide open" in those days and unlicensed saloons and gambling were rampant. Cox, however, kept his place orderly and established a reputation for physical courage that he maintained throughout his career.

He immediately became a leader in local politics and soon spread his influence until he virtually controlled the Republican machine in Hamilton county, obtaining a powerful hold on state politics and wielded an influence in national campaigns.

Early in his political career Mr. Cox was elected to the city council. That, however, was the only office to which he ever was elected. He found the inner circle of his party far more interesting than the open work of the platform. As leader of the Republican party in Hamilton county, he selected as his chief assistants August Hermann, now chairman of the National Baseball Commission and president of the Cincinnati Baseball club and Rud Hynicka who later became closely associated with Mr. Cox in theatrical ventures. In the division of authority between these two, Cox assigned Hermann to the city of Cincinnati and Hynicka to Hamilton county outside of Cincinnati. For years the word of these two men in their separate fields was final.

In 1884, during the Blaine-Cleveland campaign Cox's circle of influence widened. At that time the Republicans declared for protective tariff and the idea appealed to Cincinnati as a rising manufacturing city. Cox was awake to the possibilities, formed the famous "Blaine club," and asked to be allowed to direct the congressional campaign. In this political fight he won, Hamilton county giving Blaine a substantial plurality.

Cox's work in connection with the candidacy of William Howard Taft for the presidency, occasioned surprise among political observers. When the former president was Secretary of War, he delivered an address at Akron, O., supporting Myron T. Herrick for governor of Ohio. In this address he took occasion to say that if he voted that year he would cast a straight Republican state ticket, but would not support the Cincinnati city ticket placed on the ballot by the Republican organization. This was construed as a direct slap at the Cox organization, but contrary to expectations, Hamilton county was solid for Taft when he was a candidate for president a short time later and it was known that Cox used his influence in swinging the state for Taft.

organization which was considered intact until it was beaten in the mayoralty race in Cincinnati a little more than three years later.

Cox, as a young man, was an enthusiastic baseball fan. He organized and was a member of the "Oseolus," during the strenuous days of baseball when fights were frequent. The motto of the club was "Win, Tie or Fight," and Cox is said always to have been where the trouble was the thickest.

Later he was associated with

August Hermann in the ownership of the Cincinnati Nationals. The ill-fortunes of that club palled on Cox, however, and when he became tired of supporting a "tailender" he sold his stock.

Mr. Cox was president of the World Film Corporation, one of the largest picture producing and distributing concerns; chairman of the board of directors of the Shubert theatrical interests, vice president of the Marcus Loew amusement enterprises, and was interested in the Keith vaudeville circuits. He was president of the Cincinnati Trust Company and held stock in various realty companies which have constructed theatres in New York City.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown us during the sudden death of our beloved husband and father, Albert Jacobs. We also wish to thank Rev. Horst for his kind and consoling words, also Mr. Daehler for his most efficient manner in conducting the funeral. We also wish to thank the ones who sent the beautiful floral designs.

Made a Social Outcast.

In court circles in England it is a serious matter to incur royal displeasure. The man or woman who does so intentionally ceases to be recognized by his majesty, which means social extinction. The offender's name is struck out of the visiting list of every person who is anybody in society, and should the offender be a man he is positively informed that his resignation from his club or clubs would not be out of place. No man or woman social repute will in future know him and if he be in the army or navy has no option but to resign, for he has himself cut dead by every one his brother officers.—London M. A. P.

Manual Training Students Go Through Veneer Plant

A large party of high school boys of the manual training department, mostly sophomores, accompanied by their instructor, H. R. Schilling, enjoyed a splendid educational trip through the Portsmouth Veneer and Panel company on Friday afternoon. The boys made the trip through the factory systematically, starting with the first step, the raw wood, the lumber pile and following all steps and processes in their order till lastly to the finishing and shipping rooms. The one hour and a half was enjoyed by all the students. The guide furnished by Mr. Swisshelm was well versed in his line of work, and he made his talk both vital and interesting.

A few more trips to other working companies are being planned, the purpose of these trips being to show to the boys the relationship between their work in the high school and their work in these industries.

BURTON RUNS THIRD IN THE OREGON VOTE

Portland, Ore., May 20.—Judge Charles E. Hughes had a clear majority for the Republican presidential nomination in yesterday's preferential primary according to the count early today. Senator A. B. Cummings, of Iowa, is second and Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, is third in the contest for the Republican nomination. The Progressives nominated Roosevelt, who also received many votes for the Republican nomination. President Wilson was opposed on the Democratic ticket. The three Republican congressmen were renominated.

While the arresting officers found Hammock holding a bucket of beer while standing alongside the car in which sat the three young fellows, they had not seen any of them drink from it. Hammock, who is a middle-aged man, was warned against furnishing liquor to minors or persons on the black list. The court seemed to doubt young Ferguson's statement that he was 22 years, and also that of Bertram that he is of age, and will investigate. He gave warning that saloon keepers stood in danger of losing their licenses for selling bucket beer to any one not taking it home to drink and said persons holding keg parties in the hillsides or box cars if proven guilty, would be heavily fined by him.

George Neff, who was found sleeping off a jag on the flood wall, was fined $5. It was his second appearance this week. He was asked not to return next week. "I never will be back here again," said he. "I'm certainly glad to hear that," replied the court as he handed the man his belongings.

Wes Hammock, "Butch" Bertram, John Ferguson and Carl Williams, who were charged with "rushing a beer can" in an N. & W. box car near Broadway crossing, were dismissed for lack of evidence.

Board Bill Jumper Is Caught; Police News

Sidney Floyd, a former N. & W. round house employe, was arrested shortly after returning to the city from Hanover, Va., Friday evening, on a charge of defrauding K. R. Gilbert, of an $8.75 board bill last March.

Floyd when arraigned in police court Saturday pleaded guilty to the charge, admitting he had left the city without first settling for the balance, but claimed he had intended to square matters and had even written to Mr. Gilbert to that effect. The mayor fined him $50 and costs to stand committed until the costs and board bill were paid and if that were done he would suspend the fine. Floyd at once wired relatives over East to forward him the money.

IN SCREENLAND

FUNNY Charlie Chaplin of the Mutual forces isn't nearly as funny in real life as he is in "reel life." He's a slender, quiet young fellow with a humorous mouth and a slow way of speaking.

He is twenty-six years old and all of his life has been an actor—that is, most of his life. He started at the age of seven, you see—clog dancing in a London theatre. Mr. Chaplin was born in a suburb of London—almost on the stage, you might say, for his father and mother are professionals—still "professing."

After working for several years he decided to go to school awhile and so entered the Herts Boys college near London. When he went on the stage again it was with the Charles Frohman company in London, playing Billy with William Gillette in "Sherlock Holmes." He came to America playing the comedy lead in Fred Karno's "A Night in an English Music Hall."

This was pantomime—but it achieved a success that was a noise, and obtained him vaudeville bookings from which he was snatched bodily by Mack Sennett of the Keystone. For a number of years he played with this concern. When not working he's just an all-around good fellow. He's not married.

The high class program at the popular Lyric next week offers a variety of features that represent the cream of the American productions, every day brings a headliner that will keep you royally entertained from Monday to Saturday.

"The Hunted Woman" on Monday is a Vitaphone six act production of that thrilling story by James Oliver Curwood, a powerful picture of a woman who strives and of men who dare, featuring S. Rankin Drew and Virginia Pearson.

Tuesday brings the celebrated Pauline Frederick and a strong supporting cast in a vivid adaptation of Mary Johnson's great novel and play "Audrey" one of the most talked pictures on the Paramount program.

Wednesday, Wm. A. Brady presents on the World program the most sensational story of the underworld ever told in pictures, "Human Driftwood," starring Robert Warwick and Francis Nelson. A picture that will startle you with its thrilling action.

Thursday brings what everybody is waiting for—Charlie Chaplin in a four act burlesque of "Carmen," absolutely the funniest picture ever made by Chaplin. It's a great big side-cracking scream from start to finish, so don't miss the big laugh.

"The Sowers," a dramatic masterpiece, featuring three Paramount favorites, Blanche Sweet, Thos. Meighan and Theodore Roberts. They simply don't make pictures any better than "The Sowers."

Saturday's Mutual masterpiece will be "The Hunted Woman" in five acts, featuring beautiful Iva Sheppard in an exceptionally unique "vampire" role.

You will find a real masterpiece every day at the Lyric and in addition to the regular features Manager Mack has hooked a number of clever single reel comedies that will be shown as an added attraction. "Davison's Trio" continue to make your stay pleasant with real music.

The program at the Columbia for next week is simply over-loaded with good things in the way of picture productions, each succeeding day bringing one of filmdom's greatest and classic masterpieces presenting some of the brightest stars in the motion picture field.

On Monday you will see De Wolf Hopper and Fay Tincher in Cervante's Famous Masterpiece, "Don Quixote," a five part "Triangle" production, and in addition you will see Ford Sterling in "His Pride and Shame," a roaring two-part "Keystone" comedy.

Tuesday, Metro Day, brings the noted stage star Valli Valli in "The Turmoil," Booth Tarkington's greatest drama of typical American life. "A Parisian Romance" is announced for Wednesday. This is a Fox live part reproduction of Richard Mansfield's greatest and most successful stage play featuring Cooper Cliffe and beautiful Dorothy Green.

Thursday's "Triangle" program is fully up to the high "Triangle" standard, with popular Bessie Barriscale features in "The Last Act," a five reel dramatic production by Thomas H. Ince, the man who produced "Peggy." The "Keystone" comedy for Thursday is "Cinders of Love," a corking good two-reel comedy with Chester Conklin.

Once more Manager Mack announces "The Spoilers" for Friday; it seems strange that after showing this picture three different times at the Columbia, there are many persons who are asking for its return.

FLASHES

Charley Chaplin was ill two days last week. His illness cost him $2,000.

Francis Bushman is soon to appear in an entire new series of screen dramas.

Six new picture houses opened this week in New York. One of them cost $200,000 and has a seating capacity of 3,000.

Sir Boerhaam Tree and Constance Collier were the guests of Winifred Kingston, star of Pallas-Paramount films, at dinner recently. These celebrities attended the affair with their make-up on, because they were busy and had an evening's work ahead of them.

Orrin Johnson has been specially engaged for the leading role in "The Light of Dusk," a powerful story by Anthony P. Kelly, which under the direction of Edgar Lewis, is announced by the Lubin Company as a forthcoming feature photograph production on pretentious lines.

Two hundred people figure in the ball-room scene of the Lusk-Paramount production, in which Kate Murray stars as "Sweet Kitty Bellairs." The scenes are laid in the latter part of the eighteenth century.

Selection of an ideal cast is still occupying the attention of the Lubin company in its plans to create a new epoch in photograph features in its projected production of "The Barrier."

It is said that Nat Goodwin is making more money out of pictures than he did out of being a legitimate actor.

Ellie Burke is soon to appear in the play that brought her to the fore as a dramatic star.

Manager J. P. Potts, of the Arcana, will return next week from a visit to home folks in Toronto, Canada.

Eight additional picture show houses in Ohio signed up with the Triangle people this week.

Vivian Savitt, who will shortly appear in a magnificent William Fox production, has a personal novelty she brought back from London. It is a frame with a number of interchangeable scenes. She can now change a parrot to match any costume, or make contrasts at will.

A FEW "DON'TS"

Miss Irene Bedford, of Cleveland, has compiled a list of "don'ts" that every theater-goer should print: They follow:

Don't put your hat in the next seat; some one may want to sit down.

Don't sit back under the seat; it might stick to some one's hat.

Don't be an end-seat hog. Don't make comments on the film; it may spoil the picture for your neighbor.

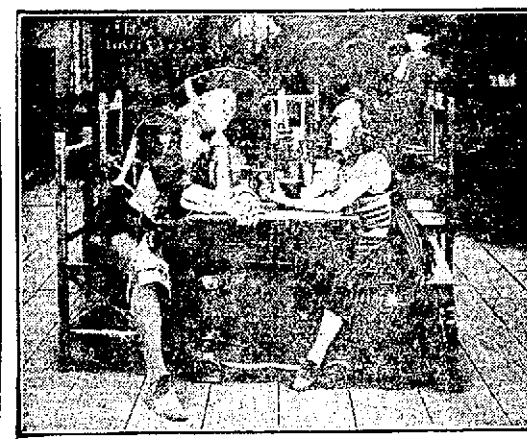

Don't read subtitles aloud. Don't say slapstick comedy is vulgar when others enjoy it.

Don't refuse to stand up when some one wants a seat in your row.

Don't talk while the music is playing.

Every day that the TIMES is published, builders list their bargains on TIMES WANT AD page.

Pauline Frederick in "Audrey" coming to the Lyric on Tuesday.

Pauline Frederick, whose beauty and powerful emotional life is finally nearly drowned by a tritonicism have made her the most dramatic actress on the screen today, is the star of the Famous Players-Paramount picture, "Audrey," an adaptation of the celebrated novel by Mary Johnston, which will be shown at the Lyric on Tuesday.

"Audrey" is distinctly different from any character which Miss Frederick has ever played on the screen before and it is interesting to note that the star herself has declared it to be the one which she has most enjoyed playing. Unlike "Zaza," "Bella Donna" and "Donna Rama" in "The Eternal City," Audrey is a simple, unsophisticated girl of the woods who has been rescued from the Indians when a child, and made a household drudge of a hypo-

Valli Valli in "The Turmoil," Booth Tarkington's Greatest Drama Columbia Tuesday

There are scores of interesting and intense situations in the big Edgar Jones, who directed Miss Valli's part in "The Turmoil," which will be also the director of this production, seen here at the Columbia on Tuesday. "The Turmoil" was produced by the Columbia Pictures Corporation for release on the Metro program.

George Le Greu, who has played the juvenile lead in half a score of stage successes, will be featured with Miss Valli in this production. There is a strong supporting cast, which includes Charles H. Prince, Ferd-

S. Rankin Drew, Co-Starring With Virginia Pearson In "The Hunted Woman" At The Lyric Monday

"The Hunted Woman" not only contains an endless amount of dramatic action, but many thrilling scenes which have played up to great heights. One of the most notable of these is a landslide in which many tons of earth and debris are sent hurtling down the mountain side.

In this story by James Oliver Curwood, the well-known author tells of the marriage of a girl to a notorious rake because of a death-bed request of her father. She refuses to live with him and he pursues her relentlessly with his attentions until she hides away in a Canadian city. Here she learns that he is dead—a grave marked with his name being found in an engineering camp in the northwest. She journeys there to make certain of it and falls into the hands of a white slaver. A handsome young author rescues her and shows her the grave. The landslide engulfs them in a mine and they plight their troth. After their escape they are married, and then the husband finds that no body is in the grave and that the second ceremony was not legal. His supposed wife cannot understand the change in his attitude toward her, until the white slaver attempts to drag her back to his power. The latter's lieutenant proves to be the missing husband, and in a terrific fight, the two villains meet their death. S. Rankin Drew directed the picture. His great knowledge of dramatic technique is injected into this new thriller, adding tremendous power to the tense situations.

Crane Wilbur in "The Love Liar" At The Lyric Tonight.

The professional heart breaker is a character condemned both in fiction and in real life. Such a character is portrayed by Crane Wilbur in the Mutual Masterpiece, "The Love Liar," a five act psychological drama which comes to the Lyric theatre today. The story tells of the numerous love affairs of a popular musician whose theory of life is dwarfed by his own appreciation of himself. The folly of such an existence is clearly shown in an interesting and forceful manner. "The Love Liar" is the biggest production coming to date from the David Horsley studios. An idea of its sumptuousness may readily be gleaned from the information that the settings used in this picture required two weeks' time to build. Representations are made of the richly furnished homes of the ultra-wealthy and of the fashionable resorts they frequent, lending a fine background to the narration of the drama.

"In His Own Trap" is a three-part Rex drama featuring Charles Ogle, Ben Wilson, Joseph W. Girard and Dorothy Phillips. Ben Wilson is the producer, and this fact alone means that it is one of the best. A story of every day life. Stone is rejected by a young widow. She marries a young man. She spends his money lavishly and soon he is on the verge of ruin. Stone sees a chance to get even and sends several thousand dollars to the young man to keep for him. He waits until he knows the young man has used the money and then demands it. The man agrees to meet Stone in his home at midnight, but her husband succeeds in raising the money and goes to Stone's apartments in time to save his wife from shame. A picture you will enjoy and one with a splendid moral.

"Cupid at the Polo Game" is an L. K. O. production. A particularly good knock-out comedy number, featuring Louise Orth, Ray Griffith and others. The scenes are taken during a real polo game and the humor is the best of its kind.

At The Temple

"Curlew Curless", Mustang, is a three reel Western drama based on a story of a well known fiction writer. The types are well drawn. Art Accord playing the cowboy hero, Nita Davis, the pretty young school teacher, and John Gough, the crooked brother of the latter. There is a good deal of quiet humor running through this. The most dramatic episode is the stage coach robbery which is well planned. The play tells a natural entertaining story and the various incidents are convincing throughout. The hero saves the girl's brother at the close.

"Ambitious, Awkward Andy" is a sidesplitting two-part comedy and it closes quite an interesting program.

At The Forrest

"Water Stail," a three part Western Mustang drama is the feature tonight.

Buck Larvin number, adapted from one of the stories of Chas. E. Van Loan. In this number Queenie Rossan and Art Accord appear. The girl gets a job on a farm where she can swim, but when the test comes she is unable to do so. Buck saves her from drowning. The number is a trifle strong but runs along entertainingly and comes to a laughable climax. The fire scene on the boat makes a good feature.

Don't miss the Charlie Chaplin feature tonight. A screaming comedy completes the bill.

At The Strand

The big program at the Strand tonight opens with a ninth episode of the "Graft" series and is called "The Insurance Swindle." Bruce Larnigan and his brother Tony Larnigan take up the fight against the big insurance companies who have formed one mighty trust and are using the policyholders' money to speculate with.

"Sears and Stripes Forever" is another of those funniest of the funny comedies by the L. K. O. bunch and comes in two reels that will keep you laughing from the title to the tailpiece. It is a burlesque on prison reform and features Billie Ritchie and Jerome Ash. "The Phantom Thief" is a satisfying Rex drama and is followed by "The Desperado" a dandy Western drama.

A REAL SCREEN STAR

Robert Warwick, whose work for years as a stage player established him as a star of the first magnitude, is a permanent World Film star with four of the biggest successes the screen has known behind him and a multitude of elaborate and ambitious productions ahead. At present Mr. Warwick is engaged in the visualization of "Sudden Riches," and recently completed "Human Driftwood." His work in these productions is on a par with his efforts in "The Dollar Mark" and "Alias Jimmy Valentine."

RENOVATE EXHIBIT

The Exhibit theatre was closed Friday morning and afternoon while slight repairs were made to the interior of the theatre.

DO YOU KNOW THAT

Ten million persons attend movies each week?

There are 75,000 miles of film manufactured in the United States each year?

There are 1,400 motion picture shows in Greater New York?

Robert Law jumped from the Brooklyn bridge and swam away, avoiding arrest?

Allee Joyce is the wife of Tom Moore and mother of a bouncing boy?

William Sheer employs 500 persons in one week for World pictures?

Thomas Edison, inventor of movies, is making fewer pictures every year?

Gail Kane traveled 1,000 miles in making the feature picture, "The Other Sister"?

President Wilson admits having seen Charlie Chaplin?

It is against Federal laws to use real United States currency in the plays?

AUTOS WRECKED

Wrecking automobiles is but one of the many items of expense that go to make up the thousands of dollars spent in the production of chaptered photo plays. In the filming of the first five chapters of "The Secret of the Submarine," the new American-Mutual photoplay in 15 chapters, four cars were completely demolished—two in a collision the script called for, one in a leap across a thirty-foot chasm and another in a tumble into a ditch.

AND POOR DANNY WAS OUT OF LINE

One sunny afternoon last week Danny Crummins of Crummins and Gore, working in an episode of George Kleine's "The Mishaps of Musty Saffler," was told by Director Myll to make a spectacular fall from a rapidly moving automobile. Danny tried the fall, but fell outside the camera lines. Director Myll expostulated.

"You're outside of the lines, Danny. Do it again, and don't move after you fall."

Danny did—with the same result. The third time the driver for some unknown reason arrested the movement of the car and Danny performed a splendid feat on the street striking violently on the back of his head. The knot of spectators gasped. Danny lay quite still. The pale-faced director rushed up to him and Danny murmured between set teeth, "Dammit, am I out?"

SOUVENIRS FOR PATRONS

Manager Mack of the Lyric theatre, has a treat in store for the ladies Monday. At the show Monday afternoon and evening those attending will be given a sample bottle of Colgate's highest grade perfume. The bottles are done up in a neat gold box and form a gift that will be appreciated by all.

Starting Monday the Mutual Service will be run at the Strand theatre which has heretofore used the Universal service. By the change five reel master pictures, the Mutual Company's greatest productions will be shown on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

George Low, manager of the Exhibit theatre will spend Sunday in Cincinnati.

Local German's View Of European War

(Written by Louis F. Korth, former Editor of The Correspondent.)

Friday, May 19, 1916.

Austria has stepped into the second of the big war stage by starting on the predicted drive against her best loved enemy, Italy, who just a year ago broke back with the ally by declaring war after spurning all friendly offers and territory concessions made through Germany by the Vienna government to prevent it.

The Austro-Hungarian army, at that time inferior in numbers to the well prepared Italian and engaged on three fronts, with drew out of the Adige (Etsch) Valley into the Tyrolean and Carinthian Alps, where the passes had been thoroughly fortified. For almost a year victory bulletins from the Lago di Garda and the weakly defended plains broke the wires and then the picture changed. After Riva and Rovereto not a foot of ground was gained any more. The defeats of the Italians and their enormous losses in four successive general offensives on the Isonzo and elsewhere are matters of record.

Italian flyer reports of extensive movements behind the Austrian front in Trentino and the discovery of many batteries in new positions brought the first intimation to Cadorna that something unusual was going on in his front. More than a demonstrative activity from Isonzo to Adige has now made it clear to him that the Austrians are on a bolt to the Adriatic.

As far as reports go so far old General Danil of Galicia, fame has opened the way through the Suenna valley east of Trent and on the plateaus of Laibach and Fagarino (Vidgoreuth) and Asiago, the terminal of the Vienna railroad is by Rome's admission already under Skoda fire. Danil's troops are on the historical old Adige valley road toward Verona, while General Torricelli, who for a year has been holding the fort at Gorizia, is making demonstrations in force on the Isonzo to keep his friend Cadorna from splitting his forces and meeting Danil with superior numbers.

As London reports the Austrians are advancing on a front of nearly three miles in Trentino. They threw the Italians out of a number of villages and positions in the Fagarino Plateau, took Pavia and Moschere and in a night attack stormed Zegatorra, south of Rovereto already. In these battles they took 5,311 prisoners, including 141 officers, 13 field guns and 17 machine guns. Yesterday they advanced as far as Costa Bella and captured another 2,000 prisoners, 12 more guns and 19 machine guns.

The Turkish counter offensive in Armenia, which scored a decided success by breaking the Russian center at Askala between Trebizonde and Lake Van last week (storming of Mount Kope) has upset the grand duke's strategy to have the columns operating from Trebizonde and Erzerum unite at Balbut in the Turk's rear and cut off the Turkish army. Constantinople reports that the Russians made several desperate efforts to regain their lost positions on the Kope ridge and at Balbut but were repulsed with big losses. A large number of Russians were captured. The rest retreated on the Erzerum road.

British official reports from German East Africa confirm that Colonel Lettow-Vorbeck, commander of the German colonial force in that region, has stopped his retreat and attacked the British at Irangi in their left flank. They claim that he was repulsed but admit his artillery fire was severe, which shows that he has not lost his guns as has been asserted.

It is from Petrograd that news comes of new Lindenberg activities on the Riga-Duemburg line and of the appearance of a German fleet in the Eastern Baltic. Of course the inference is that the German army and navy will cooperate again in a new movement against Riga. Besides new engagements at Selburg, north of Jacobstadt, where the Germans made 500 prisoners, Berlin has had nothing to communicate.

In a gun duel between small German and English squadrons on the Belgian coast a British cruiser was disabled, as the German admiralty states. The Turks have sunk a small British motor.

The Austro-Hungarian government has directed a note to the neutral powers protesting against the sinking of the passenger steamer Dubrovnik by a French submarine in the Adriatic without warning.

Two torpedoes were fired, the first one hit the ship on starboard and the other one astern after the boats with the passengers had been lowered. It is not exactly known how many people perished. Only the bodies of four women were found. Four passengers and four sailors are missing.

A French news agency reported a week ago that a French submarine had torpedoed the Austrian transport and munition steamer Dubrovnik. The Austrian admiralty states that this was the coast liner.

In the note it is asserted that besides this vessel the hospital ship Elestra and the small Ragnusa liners Daniel Erno and Zagrab have also been torpedoed in the Adriatic, both without warning. All on board were saved, but several of the crew were hurt. An empty boat of the Zagrab drifted to shore but it is possible that the inmates were picked up by a passing vessel.

Public sentiment in Great Britain has forced the Asquith government to adopt a more humane policy toward the Irish revolutionaries. Executions in Ireland have been stopped and Mr. Asquith has gone to Dublin to advise with his followers about measures of relief and justice to Ireland, land tenure reform and home rule. This much the revolution has brought about—Sir Roger Casement has been committed to trial for high treason.

The Austrian government claims to have found in letters of the former governor of Belgrade proof for it that the Serbian cabinet (Pasevich) directed the conspiracy which culminated in the murder of Archduke Franz Josef and his wife at Serajevo. When the war is over there will be interesting revelations about what started it.

After shipping 50,000 car loads of wheat on the first purchase contract to Germany and Austria Rumania has begun with the shipment of another 140,000 on the second. The grain goes up the Danube. Formerly it went down the river to the Black Sea from where it was distributed.

An address of the President of the Alsace-Lorraine Landtag, Dr. Hoeft, has made much of an impression in Germany. Announcing that the Imperial government had asked parliament for a substantial grant to reimburse the two provinces for all losses and damages sustained by the war, he said their loyal participation in the defense of the common country had considerably strengthened the ties which combine both. Alsace-Lorraine had gained in every respect as part of the German organism.

A member of the Turkish colony in Vienna, who hails from Erzerum, writes to the Fremdenblatt: "After the capture of the city the Russians hanged over 800 Georgians, who fell into their hands, as traitors and insurgents. The Georgians and Georgians lived in deadly feud with the Armenians. To this much of the massacre talk may be attributed."

Loyal Fraser writes in Daily Mail: "If England is not afraid of losing the Suez Canal, why her extensive measures to defend it? It is our key to the Orient and yet our weakest spot. If we don't hold it we will have revolution in Egypt and India, trouble in Australia and a general collapse. We have troops everywhere in Asia, but they are not British. And not inexhaustible.

In Central Europe the republication of a book "Avant la Guerre" which the Belgian military writer Major Girard wrote in 1899, has created a sensation. In it Girard predicted exactly what would happen to Belgium. He said that a belligerent, who would want to march through Belgium, could demand that privilege by compensating the state without breaking a neutrality treaty. This principle had been distinctly recognized by the highest French authority on international law, E. de Vattel, in his leading work "Droits des Nations."

The Swedish "Dagens Nyheter" writes: "The Russian Red Cross has broken with those of the Central Powers because Germany refused to express regret over the sinking of the Russian hospital ship Portugal in the Black Sea. Germany holds that the Portugal lost the character of a Red Cross ship by carrying troops and towing barges loaded with supplies."

Little Greece has forced the entente powers to respect her neutrality and to desist from transporting the refitted Serbians at Corfu to Saloniki over her territory by concentrating large forces on the Patras Athens Larissa lines. Once in possession of these roads the Allies could have cut off all supplies for Greece and starved her into submission. The Greek government remained firm and met the entente bluff with a counter of arms. It was backed by almost the entire Greek people and press. The ship said: "After the complete break down of the Russian offensive the entente wants to strengthen their Balkan front by Greek-Serbian armies and make another Macedonia out of Greece but our army will save us." And Nea Imera declared: "England is growing but we are not anxious to pull the chestnuts out of the fire for her. Money does not tempt us as it did others who sold their friends and birthright."

Upon the British refusal to let foodstuffs come into Luxembourg by way of Holland for fear they would go to Germany the duchy has declared under protest that Germany never took but gave her supplies.

Berlin papers assert that the Russians from Archangel or Vladivostok which landed at Marseilles 3,000 miles away, were Serbians in Russian blouses.

The Japanese in San Francisco are starting a fund to build a cruiser for the Japanese navy. It needs to be strengthened, they say, because after the war Germany will be sure to call for Tsingtau and her islands in the Pacific.

Progress of Lyon considers the main cause of the food-stuff famine in France and calls for government regulation of prices.

The London papers give praise to Khalid-Pasha, the victor of Kut-el-Amara, for the admirable treatment of his British prisoners.

The Krapps have bought a large tract of land near Munich for the immediate erection of another big gun factory.

A special ministry is to be created in Germany to regulate the distribution of farm products and victuals so as to protect the cities against the country.

Tonnage is becoming so scarce in Europe that in Scandinavia, where the skippers are becoming millionaires, old tubs of the early eighteenth century have been rebuilt for freight service.

In the month of April 96 hostile ships of 225,000 tons have been sunk by German submarines.

Shining jewels, diamonds, etc., are not worn in good German society just now, when almost every family is in mourning. The oldest jewel, the pearl, is the newest in fashion. Brilliants have been exchanged for war bonds. "The women want to do no less for the country than their husbands and sons in the field," a woman's journal says.

Representatives of all the German states have gathered in Berlin to devise a uniform tax system for the empire.

In the Canadian concentration camp of Kapuskasing on the Transcontinental R. R., where some three hundred Hungarians, not soldiers but laborers, are interned, four of them have been shot and fifteen wounded by the guards in a revolt.

Five hundred musicians and dramatic artists give their services to a Berlin committee for the entertainment of convalescents in the military hospitals, among them twenty-five Americans, who are residents of the German capital.

Germany has had less strikes last year than in any year since 1900.

Mr. Charles Nagel, President

Taft's Secretary of the Interior, answers to the question "Who started the war?" as follows: "Does Germany appear to fight like a nation which is moved by a desire for conquest? Does any one really believe that in a war of aggression a people intently devoted to the most diversified pursuits of peaceful life would rush to the colors as this people has? Can serious reflection reconcile such devotion with an aggressor's conquest?"

Some time ago a British paper in New York stated that Mr. Hexamer, the president of the German-American Nationalbund, had been decorated by the German Emperor. Mr. H. published an euphonic denial and now a semi-official German paper brands the statement as a canard. The gentleman is a Spanish-American war veteran. Jeffrey Plant To Make Additions

As a result of the tripled demand for Jeffrey motor cars and trucks, for the new structures are being pushed through to completion by a firm of Chicago architects.

Automobile Insurance

Fire, Liability, Collision and Property Damage

For Rates see Charles D. Scudder 26 1st. Nat. Bank Bldg.

Work will be started first on a new foundry. This building will measure 125x275 feet, will be one-story high and of reinforced concrete. Nothing will be left undone in the way of equipment, and when the building is finished it will be second to none of its kind in the country. It will provide another splendid unit in the organization under whose roof is made ninety-three per cent of every Jeffrey car put on market.

The architects combed the country for advanced ideas of foundry construction. The roof of the big building will be, for example, constructed as to make smoke and gases a negligible quantity inside. It will be built saw-tooth style, with the windows so arranged as to open automatically ever so often and clear the air inside. The Jeffrey Company has ever gone the limit in safeguarding the health and safety of their employees.

All the latest and very best devices to be found in any factory will be installed in the new addition to the Jeffrey works. Castings of gray iron, aluminum and bronze will be produced.

The other building planned by the Jeffrey Company will be five stories high, and constructed of concrete.

Will Get Carload Of Dorts

David Stahler, agent for the Lee and Dort automobiles, is having a difficult time supplying the demands of the local market for the popular machines. He has fourteen Lee touring cars ordered and will be unable to make deliveries before the first of June and has several orders for the Dort machine. Mr. Stahler expects to receive a carload of Dorts sometime next week.

Every day that the TIMES is published, builders list their bargains on TIMES WANT AD page.

Year after year passes and sees hundreds of thousands of new Ford cars produced and eagerly taken by waiting buyers. Why are they waiting? Because the cars that have previously been built are still on the job, and the testimony of their daily performance is all that is needed to prove their quality and usefulness.

For instance, a 1911 model "T," owned by J. D. Albright, of Bowie, Texas, has a total mileage of 172,832. It is in constant use as a service car, while a 1909 model Ford owned by E. G. Drudling, of Ellsworth, Wis., delivers groceries from morning until night, and has rolled up a total of 171,418 miles.

The Ford belonging to J. J. Moore, of Philadelphia, is a 1911 model, and has amassed a total of 147,751 miles. The owner is a specialist in church finance, and his work takes him to all parts of the country. Five trips across the United States, and three times each into Canada and Mexico, are some of the trips made by this car.

Goodrich Company Wins Legal Fight

"It is because we believe in an absolutely square deal for the automobile supply houses," says an official of the R. F. Goodrich company in explanation of the victory recently won in the United States district court in Cleveland over the Automobile Co-operative Association of America.

"There are 75,000 of these supply houses throughout the country. If we sold the various consumers' leagues at our bidding price, and if other tire companies did the same, it would result in putting out of business a tremendous number of our prosperous merchants who have invested heavily in the automobile supply business. This would, in the end, be a misfortune, not only to the individual dealer, but would hurt every man who owns and operates a car.

"The significance of our victory is the fact that we are saving the dealers for the ultimate benefit of the consumer even despite the desire of a very large body of these same consumers."

FRIEL SALES

The new Chalmers and Studebaker automobiles are creating considerable favorable comment among the ranks of the local motorists. The sweeping lines and poorly comfortable seats are features of the bodies. W. J. Friel, local agent for these two splendid machines, has sold several so far this season. During the past week Mr. Friel sold the following:

- Dr. Dan Webster, Lucasville, Chalmers six, roadster.
- Samuel Wise, Sixth street, Chalmers six, roadster.
- John Staker, Powellsville, Studebaker six, touring car.
- Frank Eakins, Seletsville, Studebaker six, touring car.

STUDEBAKER BREAKS ALL RECORDS

Within the first three months of this year more Studebaker cars have been shipped from the factory than in any corresponding period in the history of the Studebaker Corporation. The present quarter, from every indication, is certain to surpass the previous one from the standpoint of production and sales.

Studebaker cars for the first quarter of the current year, 1916, were 10,475, a record for the company. This was accomplished without a single day's stoppage in the factory. The completion of the new $100,000 factory extension will increase production to 15,000 cars a year.

With the factory building, the Studebaker company is now producing cars at a rate of 100 a day. This is a record for any automobile company in the world. The company is now producing cars at a rate of 100 a day. This is a record for any automobile company in the world.

Almost Hundred Million Dollars Worth Of Overlands Are Shipped In One Year

Few people outside of those in the best number of medium and popular with the thousands of a big far priced cars ever made in 24 automobile manufacturing companies.

During the month of April cars like the Willys-Overland company, have any conception of the enormous amount of money represented in the shipments of cars from the factory.

But when the value of the shipments is given in cold dollars and cents it leaves no room for doubt as to the magnitude of the business.

At the present time the average daily shipments of Overland and Willys-Knight cars from the plant are valued at $612,500. This has meant for cars, came at a time when as high as $775,000 a day when the factory broke through of water weather.

—THIS 3400 r. p. m. CHALMERS

They're buying motor cars today as they're hiring men—on ability. Blue eyes, brown hair, a rugged jaw, mean something—but not so much as they used to. They're seeking ability. And that is not always measured in stature, weight and reach. Likewise in a car. They look her over, learn her wheel-base, note the tire sizes, ask the bore and stroke of the engine and then—

They make her perform. They make her hit the trail, they roll her up the steepest hill. They let her out on the straightaway, and they make her accelerate at slow speeds.

It's the only way to judge a car. And we're particularly glad, because we have in the 3400 r.p.m. Chalmers a car that answers every human wish.

You can almost talk to this animal. You can lead her anywhere. We know of no one who has ever called on her for too much, nor asked of her anything she couldn't deliver. She's like a young ballplayer who keeps driving 'em over the right-field fence.

She's there. And the reason is her magnificent 3400 r. p. m. engine. When history in our business is written, 3400 r. p. m. will occupy a thick chapter.

Simply because at the lowest speeds she saves her energy, turns up only 500 r. p. m. at 10 miles an hour, and 1000 r. p. m. at 20 miles an hour.

Thus using only 18 per cent of her power at such speeds and saving 62 to 80 per cent for winding, hilly roads, bad turns, and on occasions when a little extra power gives you possession of the road.

One ride of five miles behind the wheel and you'll own it. Ask your dealer about Chalmers service inspection coupons, negotiable at all Chalmers dealers everywhere. This system is a most important consideration in buying your car.

Wants To Enter His Hudson Car

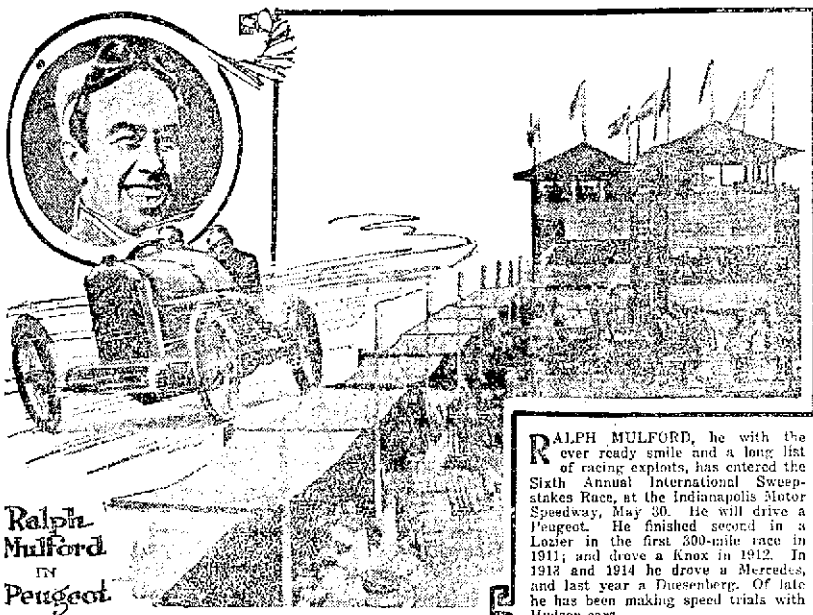

stands pat, saying he will not vote yes to admit any one. He is entering the $15,000 Delage car David Joyce, of Chicago, gave him. Vail finished third at the New York speedway race recently, winning him great favor among the powers that be, although up to that time he was little known. He is a Brooklyn product. It is not known whether the Hudson factory is a sub rosa factor behind Vail, but rumors are to this effect. Vail's victory at New York, with a Hudson, following the records recently established by Mulford in a stock car Hudson, give foundation upon which are built many stories that the Hudson factory is going into the racing game to monopolize the glory of American car builders.

Says Waverly Will Get C. & O. Shops

The following from the Waverly Watchman is of special interest here, as hitherto it had been thought the shops would be at Russell, Ky.: "Arthur H. Bannan, who is one of the ablest lawyers in Southern Ohio, was in this city last Monday and Tuesday on important business, and while here informed Prosecutor Levi Moore that the new C. & O. Ry. would make their shops in this city; that there was no other way to get out of it. Mr. Bannan is in a position to know and Waverly citizens should not be surprised to see this city grow from now on."

RALPH MULFORD TO DRIVE AT INDIANAPOLIS

Ralph Mulford in Peugeot

RALPH MULFORD, he with the ever ready smile and a long list of racing exploits, has entered the Sixth Annual International Sweepstakes Race, at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30. He will drive a Peugeot. He finished second in a Lozier in the first 300-mile race in 1911; and drove a Knox in 1912. In 1913 and 1914 he drove a Mercedes, and last year a Duesenberg. Of late he has been making speed trials with Hudson cars.

Chalmers Wins Laurels As Mountain Climber

Conquering two of the most famous mountain peaks in the country, the Chalmers Six-30 has added fresh laurels to its mountain climbing reputation, by ascending Ensign Peak in Utah, and Mt. Diablo near Oakland, Cal.

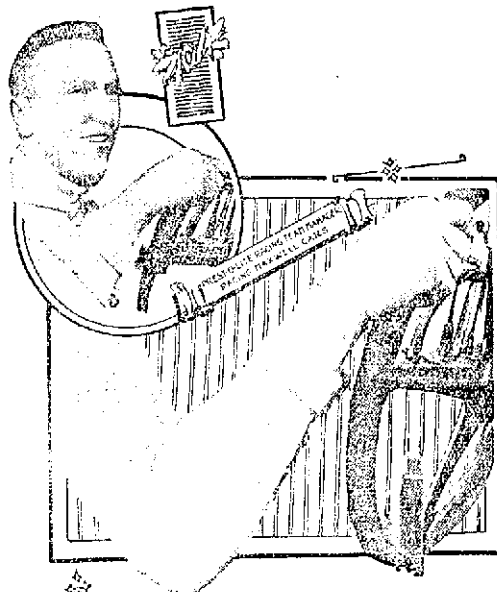

Ensign Peak is known to every tourist who visits Salt Lake City, as the mountain which rises steeply from the eastern limits of the city. Its summit is plainly visible from every quarter of the city, but its steep sides had never before been traversed by a motor car.

Fred Junk, a driver for C. A. Quigley, Chalmers' distributors in Salt Lake City, piloted the car on its hazardous journey. Starting at 5 a. m., the car reached the summit at 10:10, after a battle with steep grades that has probably never been equaled in a test of this kind.

Approximately a third of the way up the mountain is a "jumping off" place, termed the "saddle." At this point is a narrow rock ridge running along for about fifty feet. The ridge is not wide enough to permit a car to straddle it, so the Chalmers hit it sideways after the manner of racing in a speedway bowl. Heavy guy ropes placed over the ridge prevented the car from falling down the steep mountain side.

The final spurt for the top, a matter of about thirty feet, means ascending a 45 per cent grade. At that point, the journey was made in a series of short bucks, and the 3400 R. P. M. motor pushed the car over the mountain's crest for a touchdown. Heavy ropes around the tires and an additional rope to the front axle prevented the car from turning a somersault on the steep grade.

"NEAR-UP" OF RICKENBACHER'S RIGHT

The movies have taught us the value of the near-up, the bringing of one part into prominence, out of the composite picture.

To pick out the one part that has made Rickenbacher a successful automobile race driver is a hard job as the composite Rickenbacher includes brains, experience, skill, daring and physical prowess.

He is the head of the Prest-O-Lite racing team that owns four Maxwell cars and will not only be responsible for the entire crew, but will sit at one of the wheels himself. At the wheel it is his mighty right, the steady nerves, the sinewy muscular strength, that makes him a master of his steel mount and unafraid to take chances in the hazardous sport. This steady right hand and arm gripping the steering wheel has brought him safely from many an emergency and guided him in the past season second only to the famous Dario Resta, who was awarded the championship of 1915. With a faster car than he has ever driven before Rickenbacher believes that in the Sixth International Sweepstakes race on Indianapolis Speedway he will be able to "sway" places with Dario Resta.

To keep this mighty right arm in condition Rickenbacher is going through strenuous physical training such as would daunt even a Jess Willard. He is completing his Maxwell cars at the Prest-O-Lite factories at Indianapolis and expects to be in practice within a few days.

Nomination Of Officers Is Made By D. of A. Lodge

Complaint was received by the police Friday about boys' mischief about a new house under construction on Kinney street, defining the plastering by writing their initials on the walls and otherwise damaging the property.

What Massenet Dreaded.
Massenet dreaded the first performance of his operas so much that he usually left the city and hid until they were over. In his book "Souvenirs de la Vie de Theâtre" Pierre Bernon tells of meeting him the night he fore the production of his "Roi de La hore" and congratulating him on the success that was sure. He was astonished at the weary, melancholy attitude of the composer. "Massenet suddenly took off his hat and pointed with his finger at his hair. It was freshly shaven, to my surprise, for we were then both young men. And he said to me, 'See what it costs to bring out an opera!'"

If You Want To Build A Home We Can Help You.

We do not build nor deal in houses, but we do advance a liberal proportion of money required to buy or build. The money so advanced is secured by First Mortgage on the property and is repaid, both interest and principal, in small weekly or monthly installments, seldom much more and often less than the amount formerly paid for rent.

WE CHARGE NO COMMISSIONS FOR MAKING LOANS, and the only expenses are moderate fees for appraising the property, examining the title, recording the mortgage, etc.

THE RATE OF INTEREST IS REASONABLE. A minimum weekly payment of 25¢ only is required for each hundred dollars borrowed. This covers the interest and a constantly increasing proportion applies on the principal. If kept up regularly, the loan will be entirely paid in a little over 11 years.

- No commissions are charged.
- Small expense in making loans.
- You pay for nothing beyond the absolutely necessary labor incident to the transaction.

A Seven Room Bungalow By John Henry Newson

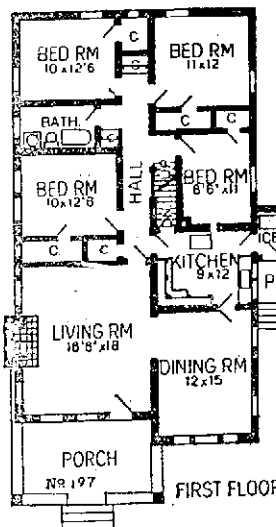

In this arrangement of exterior and plan it is possible to build this seven-room bungalow at a very low cost, by virtue of the short studding that is required in the construction of the walls and by the minimum roof area made possible by giving the roof a low pitch; the very features that bring about the effect of a bungalow.

The living quarters, that is to say, the kitchen, dining room and living room, occupy the front part on the plan and the sleeping quarters are entered through a hall off the rear of the living room, off of which four bedrooms are grouped. A stairway also ascends from this hall to storage space under the roof. The basement occupies a part of the area of the house and is reached from a stairway off of the kitchen. The cost of this house should not exceed $3000, as it would be built in a locality suitable for such a design.

No. 197. Size 30x48 feet. Price of plan $15. Price of specifications $25.

By special arrangement Mr. Newson answers without charge all inquiries of Times readers concerning these Homes of Character. Just address your letter—being careful to give number of home each time—to John Henry Newson, "Homes of Character Dept.," The Times.

The Tallow Dip Goes Out!

A Boston firm, which operated the largest tallow dip factory in the country, which, of a fact, was about the sole survivor in this once general and flourishing industry, announced, last week, that it would discontinue the making of the candles. Thus another institution of the past yields to progress. A generation ago not only every well regulated, but most every family of every kind, kept a stock of tallow candles on hand, according to their prudence and means. Now most families, especially those in town, have little knowledge of this mode of lighting and less use for it. That is rather strange for the tallow dip still remains with us as the measure of light. For we still speak and will so connected be so far apart. The tallow dip was a necessity, but it was a nuisance. Danger and discomfort were its accompaniments and qualities. Recalls the hunting for a match, a place to strike it, the melted tallow running down onto fingers and scorching them, the upsetting of the tallow dip when it was set down without its "stick," which by-the-way wasn't a stick at all, but a hollow tube with a base in which the candle was stuck, that is when the family had enough "sticks," but a family was never known to have enough for one candle in use. Well, may be there was one family that had enough, but memory recalls no instance where an extra candle and a stick could be found in speaking distance of each other. Still, we wouldn't speak altogether disparagingly of the tallow dip; it had its use and it was mighty handy at times. It is not at all the same with the electric candle. It is absolutely the most wonderful of all inventions because it is a prime necessity and at the same time the best of all comforts and the least of all troubles. You often here people say they would like to have a taste of luxury; they can get it almost for nothing in the electric current. There isn't a particle of noise, dirt, disorder, confusion or annoyance about it, scarce so much as a faint glow to mark its enjoyment. Merely pressing a button brings a veritable flood of light, the cooling breezes to blowing, or the water steaming on the stove—things of more life and daily importance to you than that its moves the car wheel, the motor and gears count it, whirled the big wheels in industries, and talks clear around the earth and chatters through invisible space. It is the pleasant thing, the comfortable thing, the important thing, the useful thing, the necessitous thing, the one luxury that you can demand in your home and know you are doing the most economical thing. Whether you own your home or rent it, you ought to see it has electric service.

We will be glad to talk to you anytime about how little it costs and what are its manifold advantages.

Round Trip May Be Made For A Quarter

The car will not stop between New Boston and Sciotoville, but it will stop probably at three points between Sciotoville and Wheelersburg. These stops will be announced Monday.

Only regular full fare tickets or cash fares will be accepted on the traction line for the present, summer tickets not being good on the new extension for the present.

The road bed has been placed in fine shape between Seletoville and Wheelersburg, and the traction company expects to maintain splendid service between these points.

The celebration was held at the home of the groom, Red Hot, Ky., and the name of the little burg was no misnomer, according to the

The groom owns a 300 acre farm, consisting mostly of Tygart valley bottom land. Situated on this fine farm is a two-story, eight room house. A search for the girl was at once instituted. Her mother, whom she had not seen in years, lives in the East End and Mr. Johnson bithered about in the vicinity in the hope of getting a glimpse of the child, but she was not there. Inquiries among her acquaintances failed to develop the slightest clue as to her whereabouts and it was not until the message came from Schiottville that the anxious foster parents knew where she was. The child and dog had walked the entire distance to the village.

Increased Efficiency In The South At First

Since the eight day revival held at the First Christian church, the enthusiasm of the members seems to have increased rather than diminished, and all departments of the church are in the best possible condition. This especially refers to the choir. In an effort to reach a still higher state of efficiency the services of Mrs. Taming, one of Huntington, W. Va., most noted song leaders and soloists, have been secured. Mrs. Taming had charge of the choir on last Sunday, and was present at choir practice last night. Under her direction not only is the two choruses expected to make rapid progress, but an improvement in congregational singing will shortly be noted. Mrs. Taming will be present at all services tomorrow and will render at least two solos. She has a rich, strong and clear voice and her singing is expected to become one of the features of all services of the church of the cordial welcome.

Following practice Friday evening, the choir was bundled off into several waiting automobiles, and several serenades resulted. Those who were visited by the

Their members want the singers to thoroughly understand that the lute string is always out and a return visit is expected.

With Mrs. Tuning lending the song service, the Young People's Choir, which will meet one each week for practice, is expected to develop into one of the strongest organizations in this part of the state. Practice will be held regularly, and in the not distant future, a concert will probably be given at the church so the friends of the young people will have an opportunity to see for themselves the improvement made.

Mrs. Tuning will sing at the Bible school tomorrow—come and hear her. Rev. Oakley, who has been spending several days with his aged mother at Lexington, Ky., will arrive home Saturday, and will have two splendid sermons to deliver.

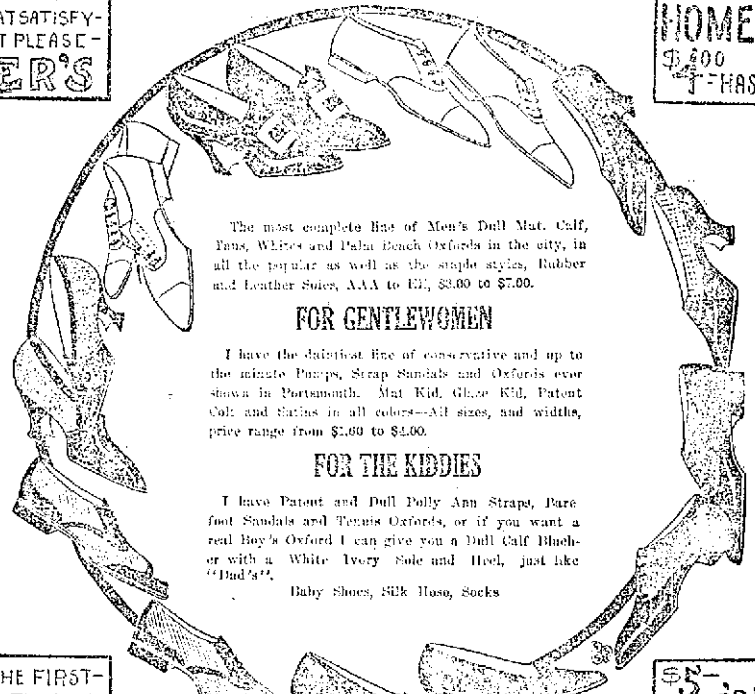

The public in general is invited to any and all services at the First Christian Superintendent Charles M. Howland, is expecting to greet a crowd of not less than 1,000 at Sunday school. This figure has not been reached for several weeks, although 991 were present last Sunday. Come tomorrow and help swell the crowd.

JUVENILE COURT AND STREET FAIRS

It is a noticeable fact that the business of the juvenile court increases materially following the appearance of a street fair in the city. This is due to the fact that young boys and girls are attracted to the fair grounds by the music and the shrill cries of the barkers for the various attractions. They come in contact with the worst forms of life at these grounds. No effort is made to protect them by the street fair people. Their dimes are as good as those of the grown-ups in the eyes of the strolling players and something men. Thus boys are admitted to the Black Tents of the carnival to witness shocking dances as was the case of the 12-year-old country boy whose history was cited Friday. The boys and girls also see gambling, in various disguises, going on. They see women of the street and mashers flirting about, seeking their vicious pleasures.

Can any one say that this is a good thing, that it tends to elevate the moral tone of the community? Would any man in this town want to lend his name to approval of such things? Most certainly not. All that is necessary is for a man to stop and think just exactly what a Street Fair really means, what its results are. Then we are quite sure that all will join in disapproval.

Our city council has taken a step in the right direction in ordering an ordinance brought in to regulate these traveling carnivals. Let it be drawn air-tight and let it be of such a nature that Portsmouth will be spared the monthly visitation that disgraced the town the past few years.

The Huntington Herald-Dispatch charges "with a solemn appreciation of what its falsity would mean," that the coal barons of West Virginia are trying to impose upon the Republican party of the state a candidate for governor that they would own, and their success means failure and disaster to the party. That's good, very good, but, though it is none of our fight, what we would like to know is whether or not in the event of the barons having their way, the esteemed Herald-Dispatch will in conscience duty bound, valiantly lend itself to bringing about the failure and disaster! These heated pre-primary talks have a funny way of cooling off when the real election comes on, and that's what makes them generally sound so foolish.

Just about one more week for entrance into The Times corn contest and we haven't half as many contestants as we would like to have. In fact, so far there are not enough to make the contest.

The jitney is showing some signs of sprouting again, but the over-abundant crop of last year is not anticipated.

The speed with which congress has put through the larger army bill shows what it can do when it tries.

Uncle Sam needs only $150,000,000 more to meet his household needs this year than he received last. A little sum like that ought not to cause him any uneasy nights.

You can never tell what is going to happen nor when. The Reds took one from the Boston Braves Thursday.

Denver has tried it and learned that it is the quality of men put in office and not the particular form that makes efficient government. So she has repudiated commission form of government by 12,000 majority.

Just one more day and the Peerless will see her interurban line in operation.

New York financial circles are rejoicing over a substantial increase of importations for March. They understand that the best condition of the world's trade is not best promoted by an excessive balance of exports.

The nerve of the pot calling the kettle black is epitomized when the New York American lectures its contemporaries for publishing exaggerated "war news."

But the incentive is clear when it is borne in mind that the American operates a news agency in opposition to the one patronized by its derelict contemporaries.

The Times pink paper supply has been threatened by the war embargo on dyes.

Roosevelt was in Detroit, Friday, and made a call on Ford. But another instance of extremes meeting in more ways than one.

Now it will be in order for some one to advise the Kaiser on being "friendly" to the Allies. He has issued warning to German men in this country not to utter any words or commit any act that may be deemed unfriendly or hostile to the anti-Prussian and lawless of the state.

Traveling men are talking pretty bold these days about Portsmouth being some town and we guess they know one when they see it.

It is none of this country's business what England and Germany may do to each other, our concern is to keep our own noses to us.

DAYS THAT STICK IN THE MEMORY

THE MANY, MANY DAYS WHEN YOU AND THE GANG WENT FISHING.

MERE MAN, OF COURSE

As remarked by the New Hampshire Portsmouth Times one of the most distasteful tasks to the housewife is cleaning out the kitchen sink of the wastings from dish washing. Some lightening of this was experienced when the white sink came into use and the waste gathered generally about the drain outlet, but at best the task remained disagreeable. Now there appears an invention or a device that does away with the mopping and scraping up of the refuse and it is so simple that the exceeding wonder is that one of millions of women, God bless 'em, have not thought of it before. This invention is nothing more or less than a strainer, which is sunk into the drain. All the particles and wastings are swept into this by the water and after the sink is washed out nothing remains to be done but lift the strainer out and empty it into the garbage box. And who invented it? Not a woman of the millions to whom it is a boon, but a man, just a mere man, one of the sex that would rather be switched any time than mop around an old sink.

In New Hampshire, recently, thirteen enablers took the state examination on the same day and all passed successfully. Yet some people will maintain there is no such thing as an unlikely number.

Some things pass unperceived. For instance some newspapers take so seriously as to call attention to a scandalous story that the means were to mobilize at Paris, again, Buffalo, and elsewhere, in the interest of Canada and its fellow combatants that a Canadian lady society was to concentrate down on the beach at Long Beach, and war against the United States.

The same society of Canada has waived aside a national error of the past, and in a gesture of judgment of sports in the future, it has decided to be just moving forward in its own way, and to be a woman, and a woman to tell you.

BedTime Tales

The Brook's Song

"Come with me! Come with me! Come with me!" sang a little brook one day, sunny morning. "Come with me! Come with me! I'll show you many a wonder—many a sight!" "Very well," answered a butterfly petal that had hung for a day right over the bright surface of the brook. "Very well, I'll come!"

"Take me! Take me!" said a shining green leaf. "I'd like to go on a journey."

So the tiny butterfly petal and the bright green leaf dropped into the brook and were caught by the current and taken on a long, long journey. And all the time they travelled, the brook sang to them and explained the things they saw on the way.

At first they went on through the meadow—that was not so wonderful, though the butterfly petal was glad indeed to see the flowers at the other end of the meadow. She had sniffed their fragrance many a time before, but never had she seen them.

Then they jumped over a handful of rocks and raced pell-mell through a narrow valley.

"Why do you hurry so fast?" asked the butterfly petal breathlessly. "I like to see what we are passing. Never before have I seen such rocks—let's stop and look at them."

"Come with me! Come with me!" sang the brook in reply. "Come with me! do not stop for rock-looks! There are greater wonders than these rocks. Careful! Do not tarry!" She shouted, as she saw that the green leaf was nearly caught fast in some rushes at the side of the water. "Those rushes reach out when I go swiftly and try to pull me back. See how they beckon? But we must not stay! Come with me! Look where I am taking you!"

The butterfly petal and the green leaf looked, but before they could notice a thing, the brook had plunged them into darkness—black darkness! "Where are we?" exclaimed the petal and the leaf. "Are we lost?" "No, indeed," laughed the brook.

Before they could notice a thing, the brook had plunged them into darkness—black darkness!

have built up those shining columns. Have I not been busy?" "Nor is that all I have done. While I am making the columns, I am also gathering up minerals—minerals that I can give back to the flowers in the meadow that I will pass after leaving here. Oh, I am busy, very, very busy—busy all the living day!"

And before the butterfly petal and the leaf could get their breath and answer back, that busy little brook dashed out into the sunshine again. Out into the sunshine, over rocks and pebbles and into another meadow. And there the petal and the leaf got caught on the mossy bank, and there they left the brook. But, as long as they lived, they could hear the brook singing—singing on its way to the great river and to the sea.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY

O-O-MEINTYRE.

New York, May 20—Broadway is chucking a chortle, or so over the bill for $2,000 that was presented to Craig Colt, gay young chairman, after he had come to New York for a few days to "rest up." He took lodgings in a boarding house conducted by Miss Letta Stanton.

Letta knows how to get value for money—at least she knows how to charge for it, but getting it is something else again, for the courts have denied her claim.

One of the items in her bill was $400. This, she said, was the amount she paid to Florence Lamont, a masseuse. The sum of $20, she said, was given to Anna Bishop for an Oriental dance which she danced for the mental uplift of the poor, tired chairman.

Miss Stanton was firm in her declaration that the chairman had every intention and that when he left he promised to pay. There is a looking agency in the Tenderloin that furnishes Oriental dancers for parties that are given by the tired business-men.

The prices arranged are sometimes $1,000 a night, but you can get them for $20 a dance, if you plead poverty, it is said.

The New York Rotarians gave one of their celebrated ladies' nights last week at the Hotel Majestic. Each lady was given a gift which represented some article manufactured by a Rotarian.

Frank Campbell is a Rotarian, but he couldn't gracefully give a lady a bottle, which represents his business, of undertaking, so he gave an order for two ambulance rides. The lady received the order without until the affair was over—called the ambulance and took her home.

Another Rotarian, who is a lawyer, gave an order to draw up a will for any lady who received the order, or any member of her family. There were some more cheerful gifts, however, in the shape of diamond rings, jeweled wrist watches and silverware.

The Club de Vingt, of Madison Avenue, the most exclusive of all dancing places in New York, is to have a rival. The deserted Rose Gardens on Broadway, at Fifth Street—formerly patronized by the hip-hop—is to be made over into a summer ice skating rink.

A club is being formed of 120 Fifth Avenue fashionables to take possession of the building and make it over. A concession may be made to let the common herd, in during the day, but it is not probable.

Bert Levy, the bearded artist, and Loney Haskell, that casual, are back from a vaudeville tour. They both appeared at an entertainment given in the Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. Haskell took advantage of the situation by addressing his audience as "Members of the Federal League."

"I am glad this is only a one-night stand for me," he told the prisoners. "Nevertheless, I prefer this place to a regular theatre, because here my audience can't walk out on me."

Levy next appeared. As he was arranging his easels and paper, he introduced himself as follows: "Before proceeding, I wish you to know I am Bert Levy, the artist."

And from a hundred voices came the shout: "Art, you can't fool us! Take off your whiskers—we know you!"

The polka-dot news is just out that one can tell the difference between a New Jersey mosquito and a New York mosquito, because the New York mosquito has a more musical voice than the polka-dot mosquito from the marshes.

However, it is stated on good authority that the New Jersey mosquito can bite harder and that it is no doubt why many of the city would rather live in New York.

ADMIRAL CAPERTON CALLS FOR ASSISTANCE

Washington, May 20.—Marines were being mobilized at Norfolk and Boston today preparatory to sailing for Santo Domingo to strengthen Rear Admiral Caperton's forces in policing that republic where political disturbances have occurred recently. Three hundred will sail immediately from Norfolk aboard the cruiser Tennessee and a small force from Boston aboard the cruiser Salem. In addition five hundred marines, now in Haiti by order of Admiral Caperton, will go to Santo Domingo. The movement of the marines is in response to a cable to the navy department from Admiral Caperton requesting further reinforcements. He gave no details of the developments which prompted his action.

The five winners of the preliminary heats will contest in the final race, which will be for the Western Inter Club championship.

Perjury having been rife in Rangoon courts because no form of oath existed which the Burman considered binding, the government prescribed a formula which is a queer admixture of Buddhism, Brahmanism and Shamanism. GEO. B. COX, PROMINENT POLITICAL FIGURE, PASSES AWAY AT CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, O., May 20.—Geo. B. Cox, politician and theatrical magnate, died at his home here early this morning. Mr. Cox was stricken with paralysis February 20, from which he never recovered, although death is said to have been from pneumonia which developed in the last few days.

George Barnsdale Cox was one of the most widely known professional politicians in Ohio, a baseball magnate, a banker and part owner of one of the largest theatrical syndicates in the country. Born in Cincinnati, April 29, 1863, he began his career as a newsboy, and later became a saloon-keeper at "Dead Man's Corner," as the locality at Carlisle and Central avenues, Cincinnati, was known because of the numerous murders in the neighborhood. Cincinnati was "wide open" in those days and unbridled saloons and gambling flourished. Cox, however, kept his place orderly and established a reputation for physical courage that he maintained throughout his career.

He immediately became a leader in local politics and soon spread his influence until he virtually controlled the Republican machine in Hamilton county, obtained a powerful hold on state politics and wielded an influence in national campaigns.

Early in his political career Mr. Cox was elected to the city council. That, however, was the only elective office to which he ever aspired. He found the inner circle conferences of his party far more to his liking than the open work of the platform. As leader of the Republican party in Hamilton county, he selected as his chief lieutenants August Hermann, now chairman of the National Baseball Commission and president of the Cincinnati Baseball club and Rud Hynicka who later became closely associated with Mr. Cox in theatrical ventures. In the division of authority between these two, Cox assigned Hermann to the city of Cincinnati and Hynicka to Hamilton county outside of Cincinnati. For years the word of these two men in their separate fields was final.

In 1889, during the Blaine-Cleveland campaign Cox's circle of influence widened. At that time the Republicans declared for protective tariff and the idea appealed to Cincinnati as a rising manufacturing city. Cox was awake to the possibilities, formed the famous "Blaine club," and asked to be allowed to direct the congressional campaign. In this political fight he won, Hamilton county giving Blaine a substantial plurality.

Cox's work in connection with the candidacy of William Howard Taft for the presidency, occasioned surprise among political observers. When the former president was Secretary of War, he delivered an address at Akron, O., supporting Myron T. Herriek for governor of Ohio. In this address he took occasion to say that if he voted that year he would cast a straight Republican state ticket, but would not support the Cincinnati city ticket placed on the ballot by the Republican organization. This was construed as a direct slap at the Cox organization; but contrary to expectations, Hamilton county was solid for Taft when he was a candidate for president a short time later and it was known that Cox used his influence in swinging the state for Taft.

When Cox announced his retirement from politics in 1909, Hermann and Hynicka continued the organization which was considered intact until it was beaten in the mayoralty race in Cincinnati a little more than three years later.

Cox, as a young man, was an enthusiastic baseball fan. He organized and was a member of the "Oacelus," during the strenuous days of baseball when fights were frequent. The motto of the club was "Win, Tie or Fight," and Cox is said always to have been where the trouble was the thickest.

Later he was associated with August Hermann in the ownership of the Cincinnati Nationals. The ill-fortunes of that club palled on Cox, however, and when he became tired of supporting a "tailender" he sold his stock.

Mr. Cox was president of the World Film Corporation, one of the largest picture producing and distributing concerns; chairman of the board of directors of the Shubert theatrical interests, vice president of the Marcus Loew amusement enterprises, and was interested in the Keith vaudeville circuits. He was president of the Cincinnati Trust Company and held stock in various realty companies which have constructed theatres in New York City.

Six Large, Juicy Tallies In Opening Inning Beat Charleston

Coffindaffer Forced To Retreat At The Getaway, Daubert And Calbert Cut In With Home-Run Wallops

COFFINDAFFER six runs off seven hits in the opening frame of the second Portsmouth-Charleston game in Millbrook Friday, the Champs sewed up the contest at the get away and the struggle after this inning resolved itself into a contest as to how many runs the Senators would make. Portsmouth had an elegantly sufficient.

There were times when it looked like King would be deluged and driven to shelter, but the "royal one" always braved the storm and came out victorious. As a piece of illuminative evidence that all was not well in the King's family he permitted 13 Senators to die on the sacks. The Home Run Kids, Calbert and Daubert, cut in with touch-every-sackdrives in the ninth, but King, yielding to a liberal impulse, permitted the enemy to grab a fifth consolation tallies in order that they would convince fans in Charleston that they were not loafing on the job. However, King was not at himself and Big Larry Jacobus, just fresh from another peek at Vine street and a high dive into a home cooked meal, got his hipper oiled up and was ready to be hurled into the breach should King wobble too seriously.

Portsmouth won the game right off by off the blackery and Coffindaffer the red. This is aptly stated. It was a one "reeler" with lots of action, splendid photography and clever scenes. After Charleston was disposed of in their turn at the bat the fireworks began. Dills for a starter tossed a pass out of Coffindaffer, something that can't be done out of some circus agents we have met.

Daubert and Calbert make a great pair around the keystone sack. They are like regular infielders and scarcely anything gets by them.

Mellory again pulled down several difficult lofts in left field. He is covering lots of ground this year.

A whole flock of fans should turn out Sunday as the Senators wind up their present series here tomorrow. The game will begin at 2:30, the new Saturday and Sunday hour. It will be Rich against Henderson or Coffindaffer.

Marshall, who relieved Coffindaffer yesterday, pitched excellently, and he will probably be used in his turn here after by Manager Powell.

Charleston scored its first pair of runs in the third inning when Curtis walked and Calhoun, Calbert and Powell followed with singles. It looked like a disastrous inning for King, but he lightened up and fanned Daubert and Bauer tossed out McGluskey.

In the ninth Calbert and Daubert inserted their homers and made the score look a little more respectable.

Nine straight and still climbing. The game in figures:

JUST GOSSIP

The same teams play today and remember it is Saturday and the game begins at 2:30. Manager Spencer will probably use Jacobus and Manager Powell of the visitors will treat out Coffindaffer or Henderson.

Calbert's drive was one of the longest ever made inside of the enclosure. It almost hit the pennant pole on the fly.

Bauer continues to perform grandly at the third corner. He handles himself like a real ball player.

Dillhofer's work behind the bat is smooth and finished. He is a swell receiver and he is throwing hard and accurately.

It is refreshing to watch Spencer's work at first this year. He is handling himself like the finished player that he is.

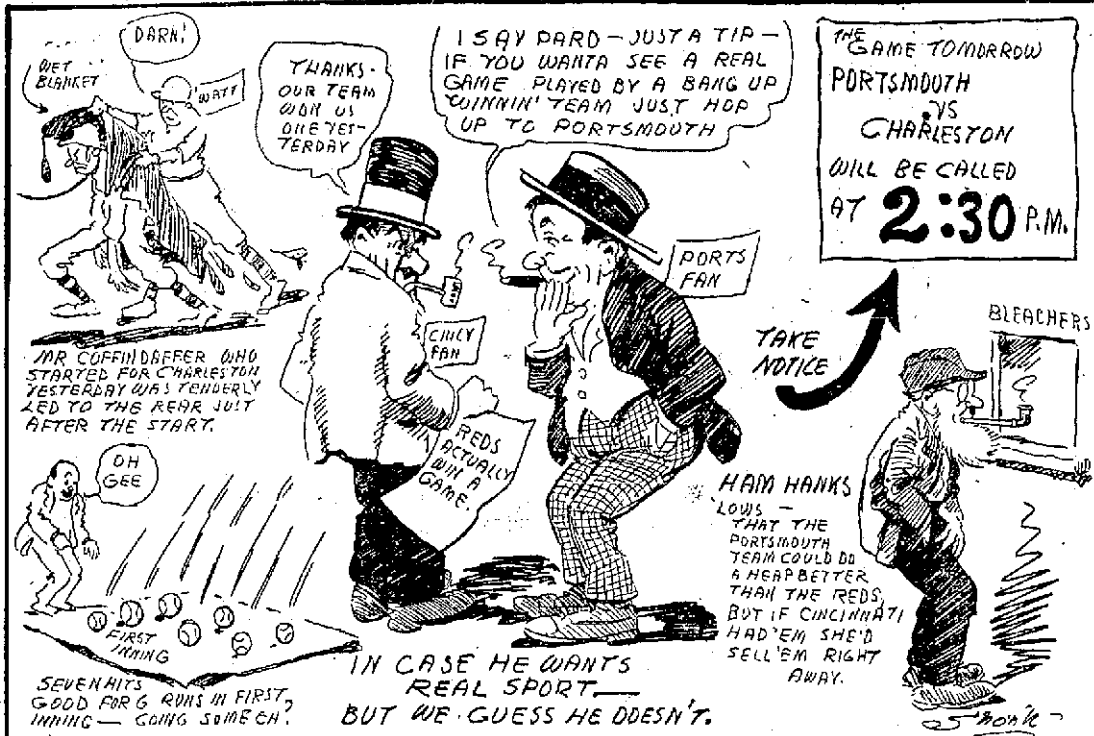

The Charleston team will leave Monday for a four days' stay in Frankfort.

Umpire Crane had another good day. His decisions on balls and strikes are very good.

The largest crowd of the season is looked for Sunday. Go out and root for one of the best teams Portsmouth has ever had.

The hitting in the first stanza was hard and clean. Every hit rang sweet.

BASE BALL SIDE LIGHTS

DELOTELLE HAS WON THREE IN ROW

Huntington, May 20. With Delotelle zipping his kinks and fast balls through the groove for nine innings, Frankfort was unable to control and the Boosters scored another rousing triumph on the home lot yesterday and thereby wrested second place from the old Tashers. Bacon, for Frankfort, was easy in two pitches with Skeeter Shelton and Olton leading in the shugging, the result being three to one in favor of the Ammonds Peds.

Recalls A Famous Shutout

Jack Bassler, a well known retired and invalid trainman, who in his days was one of the best semi-professional outfielders who ever played in Portsmouth, had a "fanning" with the boys at the B. and O. depot Friday.

It is not often that one team can pile up six runs on seven hits on one day and come right back and do the same thing the next day. That is exactly what the Spencer Sinters did Friday.

Cobblers Must Be Stopped

Huntington, May 20.—Some team will have to stop the Portsmouth Cobblers soon or the first half of the race will be over before the middle of June. The River City men have won nine and lost six. They have not faced Huntington yet. If the Cobblers are going right it will be a money battle. The Boosters met the Down River squad in that city on June 2, 3, 4 and 5. A return engagement will be played here on June 10, 11, 12 and 13. Here's hoping for that time.

Ollom Is Going Some

Huntington, May 20.—Shortly Ollom is like Portsmouth. You can't stop him. Just to show the world a taste that his hitting streak is not a fluke he came through with two doubles in three times up yesterday. This makes eleven hits he has registered since the season started. His average to date is as follows:

Chief Clouters Given Applause

Calbert and Daubert's home runs in the ninth were two of the best hits ever made on the local lot. Had Calbert's hit to the pennant pole been handled a little more rapidly he could have been hit in three sacks. Daubert tossed one over the garden wall and trotted gleefully around the sacks. Both Senators were given much applause for their four cushion swats.

King Was Very Wild

King failed to pitch his usual steady game. He was all over the place and the game was much closer than the score indicates. Charleston had 13 men left on the bases, which is a most unusual number. King was hit freely, but not with men in a scoring position.

TRACTION SERVICE TO WHEELERSBURG WILL START NEXT TUESDAY

Round Trip May Be Made For A Quarter

Traction service between Portsmouth and Wheelersburg will be inaugurated next Tuesday morning by the Ohio Valley Traction company.

A definite announcement to this effect was made Saturday. The long looked for service is to become a reality Tuesday and no doubt residents between New Boston and Wheelersburg and in this city as well, will receive this glad news with extreme satisfaction.

Officials of the Ohio Valley Traction company will operate one of their new traction cars between Sciotoville and Wheelersburg. It will not come west any farther than the New Boston "Y," but all cars to New Boston from the city will connect with the traction car, which will leave New Boston on the hour and Wheelersburg for New Boston on the half hour.

The car will not stop between New Boston and Sciotoville, but it will stop probably at three points between Sciotoville and Wheelersburg. These stops will be announced Monday.

Only regular full fare tickets or cash fares will be accepted on the traction line for the present, commuter tickets not being good on the new extension for the present.

A person going to Wheelersburg from Portsmouth can make the round trip, 20 miles for a quarter providing that he buys six tickets for twenty-five cents. One ticket will be collected from Portsmouth to New Boston, one from New Boston to Sciotoville and one from Sciotoville to Wheelersburg. The same ticket arrangement holds good for passengers returning from Wheelersburg to Portsmouth.

"Commuter tickets may be good on the new line later on. We are simply feeling our way," an official of the Ohio Valley Traction company stated Saturday.

The first traction car is scheduled to leave New Boston for Wheelersburg at 4:50 next Tuesday morning. The first car to leave Wheelersburg for New Boston will leave that village at 5:20 a. m. The second car for Wheelersburg will leave New Boston at 5:50 a. m. The last car to leave New Boston for Wheelersburg at night will leave at 11 p. m., and the last car for New Boston from Wheelersburg will leave that village at 11:30 p. m.

The road bed has been placed in fine shape between Sciotoville and Wheelersburg, and the traction company expects to maintain splendid service between these points.

Will Hold Bake Sale

The Sewing Circle of the Pleasant Green Baptist church will give an Apron and Bake Sale at Pleasant Green Baptist church this afternoon. Many pretty styles of aprons will be on sale. Sale opens at 2:30.

Crane Wilbur in "The Love Liar" At The Lyric Today

The professional heart breaker is a character condemned both in fiction and in real life. Such a character is portrayed by Crane Wilbur in the Mutual Masterpiece, DeLuxe Edition, "The Love Liar," a five act psychological drama which comes to the Lyric theatre today. The story tells of the numerous love affairs of a popular musician whose theory of life is dwarfed by his own appreciation of himself. The folly of such an existence is clearly shown in an interesting and forceful manner. "The Love Liar" is the biggest production coming to date from the David Horsley studios. An idea of its sumptuousness may readily be gleaned from the information that the settings used in this picture required two weeks' time to build. Representations are made of the richly furnished homes of the ultra-wealthy and of the fashionable resorts they frequent, lending a fine background to the narration of the drama.

MAY DAY PAGEANT THIS AFTERNOON

Knighting Of "Sixth Brother" Is A Memorable Event For Local Order

Before his five brothers and in the presence of eighty Knights, Edwin Wilson Gableman, city hall man for the Cincinnati Enquirer, and formerly of The Times, received the ceremonies of the Red Cross degree and the Order of the Temple at the annual inspection of Calvary Commandery No. 13, Knights Templar. Although the local Commandery received state-wide renown several years ago by enjoying the distinction of having a father, George D. Selby, and four sons: Pearl E. Mark W., Homer C. and Roger A. Selby, members of the order at one time, this record has now been set aside by the Knighting of E. W. Gableman.

The six brothers, Charles L. Waverly, William N. George L. J. Wesley, Walter and Edwin W. Gableman, adopted daughter of Robert M. Johnson, a bricklayer, of No. 1218 Front street, wandered away Friday afternoon, facing the wide world bravely, confident she would find a welcome wherever she went. She had died to escape going to the "Home," which she feared would be her fate.

Foot-sore and completely exhausted from the long walk, hungry and thirsty, the pretty child was found asleep on a front porch of Oregon Evans' home in the northern part of Sciotoville, about 11 o'clock Friday night. The faithful dog was at her side, prepared to protect and defend her.

At the approach of Mr. Evans, who was returning from a lodge meeting, the dog arose and began barking vigorously. When Mr. Evans investigated he found the sleeping child, and arousing her, inquired as to her identity.

She had no particular destination, she said, and was merely running away to avoid being sent to the county children's home, which she feared her foster mother planned to do. Mr. Evans took the child and dog to the home of his father, David Evans, the town marshal. He communicated with the Portsmouth authorities and word was soon gotten to Mr. Johnson, who had been searching manfully all evening for the missing child, to whom he is greatly attached. Fearing that he might not be able to return by street car, he engaged an auto and drove to Sciotoville. A few hours later the child and her pet were safely back in the Johnson home.

The little girl is the same who was the victim of a robbery in front of a Chillicothe street ten-cent store Friday morning. While she and a girl friend were in the store some boy took $1.50 that had been concealed in a corner of a blanket folded up in a little wagon, with which just shortly before she had delivered a washing. Mrs. Johnson upbraided the child for her carelessness, she having doted up a special pocket inside her dress for the very purpose of carrying money. Acting upon information given by the child, Mrs. Johnson went down town in the hope of locating the young thief. When she returned 11:30 she was surprised to find the dog, which is kept chained in the daytime, missing from its place. A moment later she discovered a note on the kitchen table. It was from Marie, she wrote in substance to the effect that she felt Mrs. Johnson would not be one of the most historical ever held by the local Commandery. Mr. Melish, who has been entertained by royalty in almost every country in the world, and who has visited lodges of Masons in every clime, was the inspecting officer.

At the close of the beautiful degrees, he discussed the peculiar distinction which Calvary Commandery enjoyed by conferring the Order of the Temple upon the sixth brother of a highly respected family.

On behalf of his brothers, Charles Gableman, the oldest, who is post master of Waverly, presented E. W. Gableman with a solid gold Knight Templar chain. The chain is set with rubies and agate.

After the ritualistic work, the members retired to the banquet hall, where a sumptuous feast was served by the daughters of the Knights Templar. The tables were arranged in the form of a white cross, which extended from wall to wall. In the center of this emblem of the Christian religion, was a bowl of pink peonies, splashed with slender slips of green ferns.

At the conclusion of the banquet, John A. Ives, announced that Miss Lollie Anderson, who Final arrangements have been completed for the May Day Pageant to be given this afternoon at 3 o'clock, on the Children's Home grounds, under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A.

It promises to be one of the prettiest spectacles of the kind ever held in Portsmouth, and no doubt will attract a large crowd to the Children's Home grounds.

Asks For Divorce

Iva D. Campbell filed suit for divorce Saturday in common pleas court against E. B. Campbell, citing as grounds extreme cruelty, gross neglect and failure to provide. The petition avers the couple were married October 23, 1902.

Alimony and custody of the two children, Evelyn R. and William Ray, is asked by the plaintiff. Milner, Miller and Scott represent the plaintiff.

Habitual drunkenness, gross neglect, extreme cruelty and disregard of marital duties are the grounds given for the divorce proceedings which Amanda Hill filed against William Isaac Hill Saturday in the court of common pleas.

January 4, 1916, the plaintiff claims her husband attacked her and beat and choked her.

"Gunning" Takes Place Of Belling When A Red Hot Couple Are Wed

Somebody will doubtless say that "there's no lover like an old lover," when they learn that William Bradley, 80 years of age, and three times a widower, was united in marriage to Mrs. Nancy Radcliff, twice a widow, at Warnock, Ky., Tuesday, May 10. Of course there is nothing remarkable in such an event, and probably it would have passed off without much notice, had it not been that two Portsmouth citizens, Orson H. Ogier and Clem Switalski, attended the belling, which opened the eyes of the Peerless spectators, in that it was more of a gunning than a belling, for shot-guns, revolvers and old army muskets belched forth, reminding Messrs. Ogier and Switalski of the shelling of Verdun.

The groom has from ten to fifteen great grand children, but for one of his age is well preserved and was able to lead his life partner through the mystic haze of the Virginia reel as the fiddler with his resined bow ground out "Old Dan Tucker" and "There Was An Old Miller and He Milled All He Could."

The celebration was held at the home of the groom, Red Hot, Ky., and the name of the little burg was no misnomer, according to the Portsmouth contingent. From the time the crowd assembled until the cigars and candy had been passed

With Her Dog As Companion Twelve Year Old Girl Starts Out To Face The Wide World

Comforted only by the companionship of her pet dog, "Babe," and willing to sacrifice home, friends and all, little 12-year-old Marie Johnson, adopted daughter of Robert M. Johnson, a bricklayer, of No. 1218 Front street, wandered away Friday afternoon, facing the wide world bravely, confident she would find a welcome wherever she went. She had died to escape going to the "Home," which she feared would be her fate.

The little girl is the same who was the victim of a robbery in front of a Chillicothe street ten-cent store Friday morning. lieve her story about the money, concluding the narrative by saying she did not wish to be sent to the children's home, that she was going away and that Mrs. Johnson would never see her again.

A search for the girl was at once instituted. Her mother, whom she has not seen in years, lives in the East End and Mr. Johnson hovered about in the vicinity in the hope of getting a glimpse of the child, but she was not there. Inquiries among her acquaintances failed to develop the slightest clue as to her whereabouts and it was not until the message came from Sciotoville that the anxious foster parents knew where she was. The child and dog had walked the entire distance to the village.

"NEAR-UP" OF RICKENBACHER'S RIGHT

The movies have taught us the value of the near-up, the bringing of our part into prominence, out of the composite picture.

To pick out the one part that has made Rickenbacher a successful automobile race driver is a hard job as the composite Rickenbacher includes brains, experience, skill, daring and physical prowess.

He is the head of the Prest-O-Lite racing team that owns four Maxwell cars and will not only be responsible for the entire crew, but will sit at one of the wheels himself. At the wheel it is his mighty right, the steady nerves, the sinewy muscular strength, that makes him a master of his steel mount and unafraid to take chances in the hazardous sport. This steady right hand and arm gripping the steering wheel has brought him safely from many an emergency and guided him in the past season second only to the famous Doris Resta, who was awarded the championship of 1915. With a faster car than he has ever driven before Rickenbacher believes that in the Sixth International Sweepstakes race on Indianapolis Speedway he will be able to "ramp" places with Doris Resta.

To keep this mighty right arm in condition Rickenbacher is going through a strenuous physical training such as would daunt even a Jess Willard. He is completing his Maxwell cars at the Prest-O-Lite factories at Indianapolis and expects to be in practice within a few days.

TWO MORE NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS ARE PLANNED

At an adjourned meeting of the Board of Education, which was attended by every member, Friday evening, a motion was passed requesting City Solicitor S. A. Smith to draft a resolution asking for a bond issue, the proceeds of which will be used in erecting a new school building at the corner of Second and Chillicothe street, to replace the structure that has been condemned, and to purchase a site for another new school. The amount is not specified in the request.

The building to take the place of the present temple of learning at Second and Chillicothe streets, will probably contain ten rooms and will be an ornate structure of reinforced concrete, brick and stone.

Members Hudson, Purdum and Nourse of the board, visited the site of the Second street building Friday morning. The present building has been condemned and is to give way to one of the prettiest school buildings in the city.

To care for a constant increase in the school buildings in the East End and Hilltop another building will be erected in the city but the exact location has not been Increased Efficiency In The Song Service At First Christian Ch.

Since the eight day revival held at the First Christian church, the enthusiasm of the members seems to have increased rather than diminished, and all departments of the church are in the best possible condition. This especially refers to the choir. In an effort to reach a still higher state of efficiency the services of Mrs. Tuning, one of Huntington, W. Va., most noted song leaders and soloists, have been secured. Mrs. Tuning had charge of the choir on last Sunday, and was present at choir practice last night. Under her direction not only is the two choruses expected to make rapid progress, but an improvement in congregational singing will shortly be noted. Mrs. Tuning will be present at all services tomorrow and will render at least two solos. She has a rich, strong and clear voice and her singing is expected to become one of the features of all services of the church of the cordial welcome.

Following practice Friday evening, the choir was bunched off into several waiting automobiles and several serenades resulted. Those who were visited by the choir members want the singers to thoroughly understand that the lute string is always out and a return visit is expected.

With Mrs. Tuning leading the song service, the Young People's choir, which will meet one each week for practice, is expected to develop into one of the strongest organizations in this part of the state. Practice will be held regularly, and in the not distant future, a concert will probably be given at the church so the friends

The Degree of Pocahontas will participate in the exercises and have appointed Mrs. Warren Riddleberger, Mrs. Frank Harpner and Mrs. L. Davis as a committee on arrangements.

Judging a Man.

If you meet a man whose character is unknown to you consider him a good man rather than bad. There is little harm in mistaking a bad man for a good. Nay, a bad man may become a good man through a false estimation of his fellow. But if a good man is mistaken for a wicked he will be lost to his friends, to his community and to his country.—Fukuoka.
